Agreement Nearing In Rail Strike

Issues Will Go To Arbitration

Washington, May 7 (AP)—An agreement was reported near today to end the 55-day strike on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Monday morning and send the disputed issues to arbitration.

The agreement was hammered out at an all night session of union and management representatives with the National Mediation Board.

SOME DETAILS still were being worked out but the main features of the agreement—the basis for arbitrating the case (submitting the issues to a neutral's binding decision)—had been decided upon, it was learned from the negotiators.

They said it might take several hours for the final arrangements to be made and formal documents written and signed.

But it was apparent that the longest railroad strike the nation has experienced in 33 years, involving 25,000 workers, was rapidly coming to a close.

Mediation Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. said the longest previous strike was one that ran over 80 days in 1922, one lost by the unions.

THIS PRESENT walkout started March 14 and paralyzed rail transportation over most of the south. It has had widespread economic effects, particularly in the coal industry.

Details of the agreement were withheld, pending signatures.

The strike was on the verge of settlement Thursday night when the fatal shooting of a striker near Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., stalled the negotiations. The Mediation Board succeeded, however, in getting the negotiations resumed Friday afternoon and they continued all night.

THERE HAD BEEN a number of other shootings and other violence in the long walkout.

Only last night company negotiators reported the dynamiting of a train in Kentucky.

The dispute started among nonoperating unions — clerks, shopworkers and others who service the trains — primarily over a demand for a health insurance plan, which the nonoperating unions had won on most other major railroads.

Decision Is Due Sunday On Safety of Vaccine

Panel Ends Study of New Serum

No Alarm Viewed In Program Hold

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The government today urged that all polio vaccination programs be halted until it can report Sunday whether, in its view, present supplies of the Salk vaccine are safe.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele made this announcement early today, several hours after a six-man medical panel completed a two-day study of the way in which the serum is manufactured and tested.

Scheele gave no hint of what the panel had reported. He indicated, though, that other "information" also would be considered before the Public Health Service gives an official opinion Sunday.

ONLY YESTERDAY, Schelle had recommended that vaccination programs be continued. He said then that vaccine already cleared by the Health Service for public use was safe.

Officials of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis could not be reached for comment on the latest move in the vaccine situation.

The medical panel met at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., after a number of states reported post-inoculation polio cases. One member of the group was Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh, developer of the vaccine.

The health service said in a statement that it would evaluate the panel's recommendations and other information, then announce its finding. It added:

SCHEELE STRESSED there was "no cause for alarm" in the holdup of inspections—a step that prevents new batches from being shipped by manufacturers.

In California, plans were announced—before today's health service recommendation was made public—for resuming vaccinations halted 10 days ago. California was hardest hit among states reporting some children developed polio or similar symptoms following inoculation.

Early today, however, California announced the program would remain suspended until the health service makes its findings.

The Kansas State Board of Health also had decided to go ahead with its vaccination program.

SOME HEALTH authorities asked federal officials yesterday if the halt in inspections meant disapproval of the vaccination program.

These queries led Dr. Salk to issue a statement saying some persons apparently had "enlarged considerably" on the meaning of Scheele's comments.

Salk said post-inoculation polio cases made it necessary to study all aspects of the situation "with the same care and precision as was followed in the large scale tests of the vaccine last year."

Harriman Strip To Open May 27

Albany, May 7 (AP)—A 14-mile section of the State Thruway in southeastern New York will be opened to toll use May 27—in time to relieve traffic on Route 17 during the Memorial Day weekend.

The Thruway Authority today announced the date for the opening the stretch from Harriman, Orange county, to Hillburn, a mile north of the New Jersey line in Rockland county. Harriman now is the southernmost point of the superhighway.

THE NEW STRIP will bring to 375 the number of miles of the thruway under toll operation.

The thruway is now open west to Buffalo. When completed, the main route will run 427 miles from New York city to Buffalo.

Some construction still will be in progress when the new strip is put into operation, the authority said. Chairman Bertram D. Tallamy said the authority decided, however, to open the section to relieve traffic on parallel Route 17, especially during the holiday weekend.

Hillburn will not be a regular interchange on the thruway system. The Suffern interchange, a mile southeast, still is under construction, and is not slated for completion until summer.

The new section will be opened at 3 p. m. on May 27, a Friday. During that weekend and the Fourth of July weekend, all six lanes will be open to traffic until 6 a. m., the following Wednesday.

ON OTHER WEEKENDS, the six lanes will be open from 3 p. m. Friday to 6 a. m., the following Monday.

On weekdays, other than those mentioned above, the three southbound lanes will be closed, and two-way traffic directed over the northbound lanes.

The toll charge for the new section will be 20 cents.

Woman, 75, Is Mother of Year

New York, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal, 75, was a happy and humble woman yesterday when she was crowned American mother of 1955.

Mrs. Fugal, of Pleasant Grove, Utah, had her eight grown children with her as she received a citation and pin at a luncheon in her honor.

"This is the most humbling experience of my life," she said. "I've lived nearly 76 years and had a lot of humbling experiences." Then she added: "I'm not up in the clouds, I'm flying over them."

Father of Five Warning Others, Killed by Auto

Islip, May 7 (AP) — An auxiliary policeman—father of five—was killed by an automobile today while placing flares on Montauk highway to warn motorists of a previous accident.

The victim was Louis Jones, 37, a carpenter, of Central Islip. The impact threw his body 50 feet over a hedge onto the lawn of the Saxon Arms Hotel.

He was the second Long Island father killed on a highway in a good samaritan role in less than three months. Carl Altenburg, 31, of East Meadow, father of seven, was killed by a car Feb. 26 while aiding another motorist in trouble.

ABOUT 15 MINUTES before Jones was killed, a sedan traveling east swerved from the highway and struck a utility pole.

The driver, identified by police as Ray Eccleston, 26, of South Bay Ave., Islip, suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to Southside Hospital, Bay Shore.

Peace Outlook Appears Better

Dulles Sees Greater Confidence for Europe

Paris, May 7 (AP)—Western leaders gathered here today to thresh out the snarled Far Eastern situation and to welcome sovereign West Germany into the free world alliance.

Secretary of State Dulles arrived by air from Washington at 11:15 a. m. for the meetings. In a statement to newsmen, he said the present mood was one of "greater confidence for the future of Europe and for the future of European peace."

The U. S. secretary, who appeared spry and well rested after his overnight flight in President Eisenhower's plane, the Columbine, added that he hoped soon to sign an Austrian peace treaty.

DULLES' FIRST session, however, was with Premier Edgar Faure, Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and other high French officials. They were to meet immediately to discuss the crucial Indochina situation.

Later Britain's Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan was to join Dulles and the French leaders in a preliminary study of the whole Far Eastern question including Formosa.

Of immediate concern to the Big Three diplomats was the seething political conflict which has pitted South Veit Nam's chief of state, former Emperor Bao Dai, against Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

FOLLOWING DIEM'S victory over the rebel Dinh Xuyen group in last week's bloody fighting, the issue now is whether Viet Nam will remain a monarchy or become a republic.

Reports from the South Vietnamese capital of Saigon say Diem is determined to set up a republic and squeeze out Bao Dai, if the Big Three will recognize such a move.

The French are reportedly anxious to achieve a joint French-American policy on all phases of the Indochinese situation.

BAO DAI left his French Riviera retreat from which he has been trying to mastermind the Vietnamese crisis to be on hand for the talks here.

Diem's brother, roving Ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, has also arrived in the French capital.

Police Break Up Catholic Rally In Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Argentina, May 7 (AP)—Saber-swinging mounted police broke up a mass march through Buenos Aires last night as Roman Catholics demonstrated their loyalty to the church in its current difficulties with the Argentine government.

At least 40 marchers were arrested. One policeman was injured in the scuffle with the crowd, which shouted pro-church slogans. One of the arrested men was identified as retired army Brig. Gen. Carlos Garcia Cuevas.

THE MARCH was staged after an evening Mass at Metropolitan Cathedral attended by an overflow crowd that blocked traffic in the square.

The huge assemblage shouted "Our lives for Jesus" and "Argentina is Catholic." They sang the national anthem and Catholic hymns. After the service, the march began down fashionable Florida street.

AFTER THE demonstrators had gone 12 blocks, a cordon of police attempted to stop the march and fights broke out. The mounted officers then moved in to break it up.

The demonstration came as the Argentine Congress studied measures aimed at separating church and state. Roman Catholicism now is the official state religion.

Dr. Kent Elected Head of Biologists

Dr. George C. Kent, former resident of this city and graduate of Kingston High School, has been elected president of the Association of Southeastern Biologists at a meeting April 22 in Charleston, S. C.

Dr. Kent is a Louisiana State University zoologist. He was vice president of the association in 1950 and has been editor of the Proceedings of the Louisiana Academy of Science since 1946.

A son of Postmaster George C. Kent of Hurley, Dr. Kent has been a member of the faculty of Louisiana State University since 1942, when he received his Ph.D. degree from Vanderbilt University. He is the author of many articles in the field of anatomy and has written a textbook on the comparative anatomy of the vertebrates.

Retired Trainer Dies

Clinton, May 7 (AP)—Dr. Newton B. Bryden, retired head athletic trainer for Hamilton College, died at his home yesterday after a lengthy illness. He was 81. Dr. Bryden held the post at the college here from 1925 until 1950.

Pine Valley, May 7 (AP)—Robert Ladd, 28, of Watkins Glen was injured fatally early today near this Chemung county community when his automobile left the highway and struck a bridge abuttment.

Ulster Villages To Switch Start Of Fiscal Year

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said today most villages in the state are shifting the start of their fiscal year to June 1 in accordance with a new finance article of the Village Law passed by the 1954 legislature.

Villages switching to a June 1 fiscal year in Ulster county are New Paltz in 1955 and Saugerties in 1956.

One purpose of the new law is to eliminate or reduce borrowing by villages between the old March 1 start of the fiscal year and the collection of taxes beginning in June. A review of tax anticipation borrowing in 1953 disclosed that four out of every 10 villages borrowed a total of $6.5 million or 27 per cent of village taxes levied that year, State Comptroller Levitt said.

THE REVISED LAW is effective generally Sept. 1, 1955, unless village boards of trustees choose to put it in effect earlier. This has already been done by many boards.

Under the new article, 282 villages or 92 per cent of those reporting to the comptroller to date have already selected a fiscal date starting June 1 in 1955 or 1956.

Regardless of the fiscal year selected, Comptroller Levitt said, tax collection now starts on the first day of the new year.

Watchman Dies in Fire

New York, May 7 (AP)—A 70-year-old watchman for a Bronx coal company died early today following a fire in the man's quarters located on the firm's property. The victim, Arthur Hamilton, was found unconscious by firemen on the upper floor of a two-story frame building in which he made his home. Efforts to revive him failed. Police said an investigation was begun not only into the cause of the fire but of a report that Hamilton had considerable money in his room.

Hilton Hotel in Berlin

Ithaca, May 7 (AP) — An official of the Hilton Hotels Corp. says Hilton plans to open a 400-room hotel in West Berlin in 1958. Joseph P. Binns of Darien, Conn., a vice president and director of the hotel concern, said last night that financing would be handled by the West Berlin government. He said both German and American officials had approved the plans. Binns spoke at a program sponsored by the Cornell University School of Hotel Administration.

Record Business Seen in New York

Albany, May 7 (AP)—The commerce commissioner sees 1955 as a possible record year for business in New York state.

Edward T. Dickinson reported yesterday that factory production in the state took "a sharp spurt" forward during March and that nonagricultural employment rose 40,000 over that of February.

THE COMMISSIONER said the gain reflected "improved business conditions throughout the nation."

"If the predicted gain of five per cent for all industries is realized, 1955 could be a record year for New York state," he declared.

The department measures business conditions against an index setting the average of years 1947-1949 as a norm of 100.

Ike's Atom Ship Plan Called Waste of Money

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D.-Wash.) said today an atomic-powered merchant vessel for actual use "would be far preferable" to such a vessel for display purposes, as President Eisenhower has suggested.

But he indicated in an interview that he thought neither would be as good as, for instance, helping underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa to develop atomic electric power.

EISENHOWER suggested the atomic display ship in a New York speech April 25. Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R.-N. Y.) called the estimated 35 million dollar cost of such a vessel "a waste of money," and Jackson said today the idea was "pretty absurd."

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) suggested yesterday the alternative of a working atomic ship in the fleet of the Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS). He said he will call Maritime Administration officials before the Commerce Committee he heads and urge them to "get going" with plans, lest the Russians build one first.

HE SAID his proposal to build such a vessel as a prototype for a fleet of them is not related to the row over the

Taylor to Keep State GOP Post

Troy, May 7 (AP)—"As long as there's a move to mend" the differences within the New York State Republican Party, Rep. Dean P. Taylor says, he has agreed to remain as national committeeman.

Taylor disclosed yeserday that he had planned to resign. He said he was dissuaded by state chairman L. Judson Morhouse and had agreed to remain at least until the end of his term.

But the committeeman told a reporter that the differences, which he said were between pro-Dewey and anti-Dewey factions, were not his main reason. He declined to elaborate.

AT ALBANY, Morhouse said through state GOP headquarters that there was no basis for further speculation that Taylor planned to resign. He declined further comment.

Taylor, a congressman for 12 years, was state chairman until last September, when he joined the national committee. His term expires in the summer of 1956.

TAYLOR DESCRIBED the party disagreements as "some

Driver Injured, Car Hits House

Frank P. Mitchell of Box 205, East Kingston, was reported in apparently fair condition this morning at Kingston Hospital after an accident about 3 a. m. today in which he lost control of his car and ran into a house at 153 East Chester street.

Mr. Mitchell was reported to have suffered a lacerated eyebrow, fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

THE HOUSE is owned by Mrs. Gertrude Wolfersheim and occupied by William Watts, police said.

Officers Bowers, Keller, Ellsworth and Perry, who investigated, reported that the front porch of the home had been damaged, plaster in the front room knocked down and lawn and shrubbery damaged. The entire front end of the car was damaged. The vehicle had to be towed away.

Mr. Mitchell was taken to the hospital in a Schultz ambulance.

Gain In Employment Is GOP Issue for 1956

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Some Republicans said today a new gain in employment—if the trend continues—promises to undermine a potential Democratic issue in the 1956 presidential campaign.

But some Democrats insisted that an April figure of 61,685,000 persons working on civilian jobs is "misleading," arguing there is critical unemployment in many areas of the country. A joint report yesterday by the Labor and Commerce Departments also said unemployment dropped by 200,000 to about 2,962,000.

SEN. IVES (R.-N.Y.) said the report that employment rose by a record 1,208,000 from early March to early April "entirely justifies the predictions the administration stuck to last year when Democrats were crying depression."

Sen. Kuchel (R.-Calif.) said in a separate interview that if the trend continues "it certainly will destroy a Democratic campaign issue for 1956."

On the other hand, Sen. Kilgore (D.-W. Va.) contended the government report overlooked what he said was serious unemployment in many regions.

"THIS UNEMPLOYMENT is going to hurt the Republicans next year," Kilgore asserted. "No matter what the statistics say, you can't convince a man he has a job if he doesn't have one."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) said the total employment figure is "mis-

Earth Shelters May Prove Answer to Atomic Weapons

Survival City, Nev., May 7 (AP)—Man-made steel, concrete and earth shelters may be the old solid defensive answer to man's most terrifying weapons, atomic and thermonuclear bombs.

That appears today to be the foremost tangible result of Operation Cue, the major civil defense test, and allied military experiments in Thursday's powerful atomic shot.

Two dogs in a concrete bathroom shelter lived through the blast that leveled the rest of one house ⅞ of a mile from ground zero. Mannequins in shelters in another shredded house were unaffected.

And the commander of Task Force Razor, the tank group which rode out the blast in 55 tanks at 3,100 yards, said they might have been twice as close without danger.

"I believe we could move them to 2,000 yards, and some of our people say 1,500," declared Lt. Col. John G. Wheelock of Saginaw, Mich.

Fifteen hundred yards is closer than the first row of houses in Operation Cue.

Moreover, scores of test dogs, rabbits, guinea pigs and mice survived the blast in shelters. Both surface and underground, from 1,050 to 2,750 feet. R. L. Corsbie, director of civil effects tests for the Atomic Energy Commission, said 24 hours later, "I doubt that any were killed."

Civil Defense heads were encouraged by the fact that two concrete block type houses withstood the blast at the ⅞ mile point. Only their windows and doors failed to hold.

Some of the weapons the military uses may prove useful in helping civilians survive.

Army tank experts have suggested that tanks and the other big, track-laying vehicles like armored personnel carriers, would be valuable in helping remove civilians from a bombed city.

Very clear was the need for protection in homes from flying

Surviving Brodie Twin Is SufferingFromHemorrhage

Chicago, May 7 (AP) — Rodney Brodie, who made medical history 2½ years ago by becoming the first head-joined Siamese twin to survive separation is in grave condition following an unexpected setback.

University of Illinois Research Hospital said the famous 3½-year-old boy has a brain hemorrhage which doctors are unable to check.

Rodney has been in a coma since early yesterday.

Doctors say there is no apparent injury to Rodney's brain, which has been without a hard covering. They have been unable to determine the cause of the bleeding.

The youngster, who had been living a normal life at his family's Ferris, Ill., farm home, was returned to the hospital Tuesday after his parents noticed he had become lethargic and did not run and play as usual.

Rodney and his twin brother, Roger, were born Sept. 16, 1951. They were parted in a 12-hour, 40-minute operation when they

Ulster Villages To Switch Start Of Fiscal Year

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said today most villages in the state are shifting the start of their fiscal year to June 1 in accordance with a new finance article of the Village Law passed by the 1954 legislature.

Villages switching to a June 1 fiscal year in Ulster county are New Paltz in 1955 and Saugerties in 1956.

One purpose of the new law is to eliminate or reduce borrowing by villages between the old March 1 start of the fiscal year and the collection of taxes beginning in June. A review of tax anticipation borrowing in 1953 disclosed that four out of every 10 villages borrowed a total of $6.5 million or 27 per cent of village taxes levied that year, State Comptroller Levitt said.

THE REVISED LAW is effective generally Sept. 1, 1955, unless village boards of trustees choose to put it in effect earlier. This has already been done by many boards.

Under the new article, 282 villages or 92 per cent of those reporting to the comptroller to date have already selected a fiscal date starting June 1 in 1955 or 1956.

Regardless of the fiscal year selected, Comptroller Levitt said, tax collection now starts on the first day of the new year.

Watchman Dies in Fire

New York, May 7 (AP)—A 70-year-old watchman for a Bronx coal company died early today following a fire in the man's quarters located on the firm's property. The victim, Arthur Hamilton, was found unconscious by firemen on the upper floor of a two-story frame building in which he made his home. Efforts to revive him failed. Police said an investigation was begun not only into the cause of the fire but of a report that Hamilton had considerable money in his room.

Hilton Hotel in Berlin

Ithaca, May 7 (AP) — An official of the Hilton Hotels Corp. says Hilton plans to open a 400-room hotel in West Berlin in 1958. Joseph P. Binns of Darien, Conn., a vice president and director of the hotel concern, said last night that financing would be handled by the West Berlin government. He said both German and American officials had approved the plans. Binns spoke at a program sponsored by the Cornell University School of Hotel Administration.

Record Business Seen in New York

Albany, May 7 (AP)—The commerce commissioner sees 1955 as a possible record year for business in New York state.

Edward T. Dickinson reported yesterday that factory production in the state took "a sharp spurt" forward during March and that nonagricultural employment rose 40,000 over that of February.

THE COMMISSIONER said the gain reflected "improved business conditions throughout the nation."

"If the predicted gain of five per cent for all industries is realized, 1955 could be a record year for New York state," he declared.

The department measures business conditions against an index setting the average of years 1947-1949 as a norm of 100.

..During March, the index for

Ike's Atom Ship Plan Called Waste of Money

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D.-Wash.) said today an atomic-powered merchant vessel for actual use "would be far preferable" to such a vessel for display purposes, as President Eisenhower has suggested.

But he indicated in an interview that he thought neither would be as good as, for instance, helping underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa to develop atomic electric power.

EISENHOWER suggested the atomic display ship in a New York speech April 25. Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R.-N. Y.) called the estimated 35 million dollar cost of such a vessel "a waste of money," and Jackson said today the idea was "pretty absurd."

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) suggested yesterday the alternative of a working atomic ship in the fleet of the Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS). He said he will call Maritime Administration officials before the Commerce Committee he heads and urge them to "get going" with plans, lest the Russians build one first.

HE SAID his proposal to build such a vessel as a prototype for a fleet of them is not related to the row over the

Taylor to Keep State GOP Post

Troy, May 7 (AP)—"As long as there's a move to mend" the differences within the New York State Republican Party, Rep. Dean P. Taylor says, he has agreed to remain as national committeeman.

Taylor disclosed yeserday that he had planned to resign. He said he was dissuaded by state chairman L. Judson Morhouse and had agreed to remain at least until the end of his term.

But the committeeman told a reporter that the differences, which he said were between pro-Dewey and anti-Dewey factions, were not his main reason. He declined to elaborate.

AT ALBANY, Morhouse said through state GOP headquarters that there was no basis for further speculation that Taylor planned to resign. He declined further comment.

Taylor, a congressman for 12 years, was state chairman until last September, when he joined the national committee. His term expires in the summer of 1956.

TAYLOR DESCRIBED the party disagreements as "some

Driver Injured, Car Hits House

Frank P. Mitchell of Box 205, East Kingston, was reported in apparently fair condition this morning at Kingston Hospital after an accident about 3 a. m. today in which he lost control of his car and ran into a house at 153 East Chester street.

Mr. Mitchell was reported to have suffered a lacerated eyebrow, fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

THE HOUSE is owned by Mrs. Gertrude Wolfersheim and occupied by William Watts, police said.

Officers Bowers, Keller, Ellsworth and Perry, who investigated, reported that the front porch of the home had been damaged, plaster in the front room knocked down and lawn and shrubbery damaged. The entire front end of the car was damaged. The vehicle had to be towed away.

Mr. Mitchell was taken to the hospital in a Schultz ambulance.

Gain In Employment Is GOP Issue for 1956

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Some Republicans said today a new gain in employment—if the trend continues—promises to undermine a potential Democratic issue in the 1956 presidential campaign.

But some Democrats insisted that an April figure of 61,685,000 persons working on civilian jobs is "misleading," arguing there is critical unemployment in many areas of the country. A joint report yesterday by the Labor and Commerce Departments also said unemployment dropped by 200,000 to about 2,962,000.

SEN. IVES (R.-N.Y.) said the report that employment rose by a record 1,208,000 from early March to early April "entirely justifies the predictions the administration stuck to last year when Democrats were crying depression."

Sen. Kuchel (R.-Calif.) said in a separate interview that if the trend continues "it certainly will destroy a Democratic campaign issue for 1956."

On the other hand, Sen. Kilgore (D.-W. Va.) contended the government report overlooked what he said was serious unemployment in many regions.

"THIS UNEMPLOYMENT is going to hurt the Republicans next year," Kilgore asserted. "No matter what the statistics say, you can't convince a man he has a job if he doesn't have one."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) said the total employment figure is "mis-

BLAST EFFECTS STUDIED—Civil defense observers, at Survival City, Nev., to learn first hand what an atomic bomb can do, get a graphic lesson (May 6) as they view the wreckage of two houses which were smashed in explosion the day before. At right is wreckage of a two-story brick house and at left a one-story frame house. Both were 4700 feet from the explosion. (AP Wirephoto).

Earth Shelters May Prove Answer to Atomic Weapons

Survival City, Nev., May 7 (AP)—Man-made steel, concrete and earth shelters may be the old solid defensive answer to man's most terrifying weapons, atomic and thermonuclear bombs.

That appears today to be the foremost tangible result of Operation Cue, the major civil defense test, and allied military experiments in Thursday's powerful atomic shot.

Two dogs in a concrete bathroom shelter lived through the blast that leveled the rest of one house ⅞ of a mile from ground zero. Mannequins in shelters in another shredded house were unaffected.

And the commander of Task Force Razor, the tank group which rode out the blast in 55 tanks at 3,100 yards, said they might have been twice as close without danger.

"I believe we could move them to 2,000 yards, and some of our people say 1,500," declared Lt. Col. John G. Wheelock of Saginaw, Mich.

Fifteen hundred yards is closer than the first row of houses in Operation Cue.

Moreover, scores of test dogs, rabbits, guinea pigs and mice survived the blast in shelters. Both surface and underground, from 1,050 to 2,750 feet. R. L. Corsbie, director of civil effects tests for the Atomic Energy Commission, said 24 hours later, "I doubt that any were killed."

Civil Defense heads were encouraged by the fact that two concrete block type houses withstood the blast at the ⅞ mile point. Only their windows and doors failed to hold.

Some of the weapons the military uses may prove useful in helping civilians survive.

Army tank experts have suggested that tanks and the other big, track-laying vehicles like armored personnel carriers, would be valuable in helping remove civilians from a bombed city.

Very clear was the need for protection in homes from flying

Surviving Brodie Twin Is SufferingFromHemorrhage

Chicago, May 7 (AP) — Rodney Brodie, who made medical history 2½ years ago by becoming the first head-joined Siamese twin to survive separation is in grave condition following an unexpected setback.

University of Illinois Research Hospital said the famous 3½-year-old boy has a brain hemorrhage which doctors are unable to check.

Rodney has been in a coma since early yesterday.

Doctors say there is no apparent injury to Rodney's brain, which has been without a hard covering. They have been unable to determine the cause of the bleeding.

The youngster, who had been living a normal life at his family's Ferris, Ill., farm home, was returned to the hospital Tuesday after his parents noticed he had become lethargic and did not run and play as usual.

Rodney and his twin brother, Roger, were born Sept. 16, 1951. They were parted in a 12-hour, 40-minute operation when they

Your Life And Mine

ADAM STARTED IT

In a world where shortages sometimes occur there is one commodity we never get short on —excuses. The difference between an excuse and a reason is, of course, that a reason is founded on facts while an excuse is trumped up by the imagination to meet the exigencies of a given situation. If there is some responsibility we do not wish to assume, some invitation that does not interest us, some office we do not want to take, we look around for what we thing is a good way out. And if none seems to be readily available we simply set the mind to work to invent one. As long as there is an ounce of human ingenuity left we never need to worry about running out of excuses.

Tinkering with the truth until it serves our private purpose of evasion or convenience is an art that every new generation is adept at learning. Nobody has to set up a course in school in order to teach the young how to make excuses. They are past-masters at the art. Every teacher recognizes plenty of native ability along this line in every classroom. It is usually far more obvious than the willingness to work or the eagerness to undertake a task and do it well. Adam started it — this business of shaping excuses. And his descendants seem to have inherited from him an innate ability to think up something which they hope will pass for a reason.

Therein lies the basic requirement that is made of every excuse that is worth its salt: it must wear the garb of a reason. An excuse that tells on itself is not a good one. It lacks something that is infinitely important. Its mask must be thick enough so that everybody who looks at it cannot see through it. Excuses are almost blood brothers to lies. Lies, in order to be effective, must be able to pass for truths. Excuses, in order to amount to anything, must be able to command the respect which is given to honest-to-goodness reasons.

We aren't always as clever as we think we are at this business of "cover-up." Because our excuses aren't always cornered and made to show their credentials of reality does not mean that they are therefore accepted by others as "bona fide." Silence does not always give consent. Sometimes it indicates the awareness of sham coupled with a kindness which refuses to embarrass us by pinpointing it.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of the energy that is devoted to the finding of ways to skin out of duties and obligations could be harnessed to the world's constructive tasks?

FAIRLY SPOKEN

What Does a Mother Want for Her Son?

by MARGARET LATROBE

"What do you want for your son?"

This question came up the other evening during a quiet after-dinner talk with friends. Parents, while they think of almost nothing else, rarely think of it at all in plain, simple terms — "What do you want for your son?"

I look at my boy, standing tall and sweet and intelligent — naughty beyond belief, sometimes. I want everything for him. To the foolish heart of a mother, there is nothing too good for her boy, nothing so great that he may not accomplish it. But these the world will give him, not she. What do mothers want for their boys which are theirs to give?

I would give my son a sense of being genuine. I would give him the ability to face himself and accept himself, as he is. May he understand "folks" so he then may understand himself. May he have a resilient spirit which can undergo the heartbreaks and disappointments which life will surely give him, a spirit that will snap back to a better emotional balance than he had before.

May he have quick laughter, generosity and kindness. I hope he is first loyal to his own beliefs, only then can he be a loyal friend.

I hope he loves his country, as his fathers did before him, and is unashamed to say so. I hope he will recognize his talents and use them fully. That done, I hope he will be content, never being dissatisfied because he is not something other than himself.

If he has a fearless but flexible mind, always eager to learn, if he can live with those who will not betray what he holds dear, my son will be a happy man.

When the time comes, I want him to say — so long, Mom; so long, Dad. You've been swell but now I'm off on my own. When it happens I will die inside, cry inside, even though it means my son is taking possession of his own life and affairs. So young, he could stay with us just one more year. Will he like working on that dirty ranch, roughnecking in that smelly oil field, clerking in that architect's musty office?

"Did you pack your sox, have you got your ticket? Baby, come back, come back —"

But he will be gone and Mother's boy will never come home again. When he returns he will be my son, always my son, but not my baby. Precious as the time is now, when all his love is concentrated on us, I hope he will be impatient to be done with Mom and Dad. I want him to be filled with curiosity about the world, determined to see, to touch, to love the wonderful, wonderful world.

When he returns, he may apologize for the sweet old things, his parents, when he brings home the Girl. He may have to explain — "Well, Mom and Pop mean well but, gee, you know how parents are!" But he will love us. Of that I am sure.

This is a sort of answer to the question, very far in the future. Where on earth is the little devil right now? I've been calling him for an hour and not one sign do I see. Okay, buster—no television for you tonight!

Your Life And Mine

ADAM STARTED IT

In a world where shortages sometimes occur there is one commodity we never get short on —excuses. The difference between an excuse and a reason is, of course, that a reason is founded on facts while an excuse is trumped up by the imagination to meet the exigencies of a given situation. If there is some responsibility we do not wish to assume, some invitation that does not interest us, some office we do not want to take, we look around for what we thing is a good way out. And if none seems to be readily available we simply set the mind to work to invent one. As long as there is an ounce of human ingenuity left we never need to worry about running out of excuses.

Tinkering with the truth until it serves our private purpose of evasion or convenience is an art that every new generation is adept at learning. Nobody has to set up a course in school in order to teach the young how to make excuses. They are past-masters at the art. Every teacher recognizes plenty of native ability along this line in every classroom. It is usually far more obvious than the willingness to work or the eagerness to undertake a task and do it well. Adam started it — this business of shaping excuses. And his descendants seem to have inherited from him an innate ability to think up something which they hope will pass for a reason.

Therein lies the basic requirement that is made of every excuse that is worth its salt: it must wear the garb of a reason. An excuse that tells on itself is not a good one. It lacks something that is infinitely important. Its mask must be thick enough so that everybody who looks at it cannot see through it. Excuses are almost blood brothers to lies. Lies, in order to be effective, must be able to pass for truths. Excuses, in order to amount to anything, must be able to command the respect which is given to honest-to-goodness reasons.

We aren't always as clever as we think we are at this business of "cover-up." Because our excuses aren't always cornered and made to show their credentials of reality does not mean that they are therefore accepted by others as "bona fide." Silence does not always give consent. Sometimes it indicates the awareness of sham coupled with a kindness which refuses to embarrass us by pinpointing it.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of the energy that is devoted to the finding of ways to skin out of duties and obligations could be harnessed to the world's constructive tasks?

FAIRLY SPOKEN

What Does a Mother Want for Her Son?

by MARGARET LATROBE

"What do you want for your son?"

This question came up the other evening during a quiet after-dinner talk with friends. Parents, while they think of almost nothing else, rarely think of it at all in plain, simple terms — "What do you want for your son?"

I look at my boy, standing tall and sweet and intelligent — naughty beyond belief, sometimes. I want everything for him. To the foolish heart of a mother, there is nothing too good for her boy, nothing so great that he may not accomplish it. But these the world will give him, not she. What do mothers want for their boys which are theirs to give?

I would give my son a sense of being genuine. I would give him the ability to face himself and accept himself, as he is. May he understand "folks" so he then may understand himself. May he have a resilient spirit which can undergo the heartbreaks and disappointments which life will surely give him, a spirit that will snap back to a better emotional balance than he had before.

May he have quick laughter, generosity and kindness. I hope he is first loyal to his own beliefs, only then can he be a loyal friend.

I hope he loves his country, as his fathers did before him, and is unashamed to say so. I hope he will recognize his talents and use them fully. That done, I hope he will be content, never being dissatisfied because he is not something other than himself.

If he has a fearless but flexible mind, always eager to learn, if he can live with those who will not betray what he holds dear, my son will be a happy man.

When the time comes, I want him to say — so long, Mom; so long, Dad. You've been swell but now I'm off on my own. When it happens I will die inside, cry inside, even though it means my son is taking possession of his own life and affairs. So young, he could stay with us just one more year. Will he like working on that dirty ranch, roughnecking in that smelly oil field, clerking in that architect's musty office?

"Did you pack your sox, have you got your ticket? Baby, come back, come back —"

But he will be gone and Mother's boy will never come home again. When he returns he will be my son, always my son, but not my baby. Precious as the time is now, when all his love is concentrated on us, I hope he will be impatient to be done with Mom and Dad. I want him to be filled with curiosity about the world, determined to see, to touch, to love the wonderful, wonderful world.

When he returns, he may apologize for the sweet old things, his parents, when he brings home the Girl. He may have to explain — "Well, Mom and Pop mean well but, gee, you know how parents are!" But he will love us. Of that I am sure.

This is a sort of answer to the question, very far in the future. Where on earth is the little devil right now? I've been calling him for an hour and not one sign do I see. Okay, buster—no television for you tonight!

Choir to Repeat Spring Concert Tonight at KHS

Kingston audiences have come to expect much from the choristers at Kingston High School and this year's A Cappella Choir continues in the tradition of excellence as it sings its annual spring concerts. The first program was given Friday night and will be repeated tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the school auditorium. Leonard Stine, music supervisor of the Kingston schools, who has built these choirs, directs.

For the most part the program is religious and formal in nature with a goodly number of difficult passages. However, several lighter numbers were included in the two groups of duets sung by members of the choir.

THE PALESTRINA Gloria Patri for double choir and Adoramus Te opened the program. These songs of praise were followed by similar anthems. The male choir in Bortniansky's Thine Is the Greatness was a thrill to hear as well as the contrapuntal weaving of parts in the Brahms motet, Grant Unto Me the Joy of Thy Salvation. The choruses from Mendelssohn's Elijah were done with a great deal of verve particularly the Thanks Be to God number which tells the story of a heavy rain storm breaking a long drouth.

Charlottown was an interesting southern folk song in contrast to the religious pieces.

Instead of the usual solos, 18 of the young people presented a variety of quartets and duets. Careful study and training was evident. Some of the singers had developed in technique, others in vocal ability and others in interpretation. The matter of singing with someone posed the problem of teamwork and blending of tones.

THE TENOR of the year is undoubtedly Cornelius Freer who sang with soprano Judith Lacey in Ah, Love But a Day by Beach. Estelle Fatum, soprano and Margaret Danford, contralto, were fine in their duet of Quis Est Homo from Rossini's Stabat Mater. And so one could go down the entire list with good points about each: Doris Herdman and James Nerone; Donna Riseley and Jane Gunter; Hilda Kelley and Rocco Autorino; Jacqueline Foure and William Schwarz; Kenneth Hyatt and Robert Gallo; Jacqueline Haulenbeck, Audrey Cherny, Richard Bunting and George Dahl. Special mention goes to Francine Turck for her piano accompaniments.

THE FINAL GROUP included the favorite spirituals sung with beautiful refinement. Estelle Fatum, soprano, and Jane Gunter, contralto, took the incidental solos.

For encores the choir sang the popular Russian Picnic with Cornelius Freer doing the solo; and in closing the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah. As is the custom the audience stood for the singing of this number and in this instance not only to pay honor to the composition but in a rising vote of thanks for another evening of great choral music exquisitely sung. glass and other debris. Even in homes that withstood the awful blast, mannequins, draperies and walls were riddled or pitted by slivers of glass, and floors were covered with a carpet of glass pellets.

Shelters, or possibly ducking into some protected corner, could answer this threat. Two homes had special boxes or traps filled with plastic material to catch debris or missiles for more careful studies of their speed, impact and danger.

While a shelter may stand up under the hammering fist of an atomic blast, this is no assurance that humans would come through unharmed from the physical effects of blast or pressure to which they were subjected. The experiments with animals ranging from mice to dogs were designed to obtain vital information on this point of the biological effects of blast within shelters. It will take some months for these studies to be completed.

There Is Nobody Like Her

It has been said that God could not be everywhere . . . so He made Mothers. And this Sunday . . . on her own special day . . . from the humblest cottage to the greatest Cathedral . . . honor is paid to the Mothers of our Nation.

So we try . . . in a few inadequate words . . . to express all the things that Mother means to us . . . and it is only the magic of a Mother's Love that can understand what we mean when we say simply but sincerely "My Mom . . . there is nobody in the world like her."

One man was slightly injured and another was charged with reckless driving as a result of an accident at Port Ewen about 6:30 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

William McGrath, 65, of Port Ewen, driver of a southbound automobile, received slight injuries for which he said he would receive treatment from his physician, troopers said.

The driver of the other vehicle, John Blakley, 47, was issued a summons returnable before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie, charging reckless driving, according to the state police report. Troopers said the left front ends of both vehicles were damaged in a collision on Route 9W a short distance north of Sior's Garage.

Firemen Remove Cable

A smoking cable to a ceiling fixture in a home at 29 Jansen avenue was cut and removed by crews of Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station about 4:20 p. m. yesterday. The home, owned by Herbert Sussin, is occupied by Harry Shultis. A small portion of the ceiling had to be removed to reach the cable, it was reported.

Earth Shelters

glass and other debris. Even in homes that withstood the awful blast, mannequins, draperies and walls were riddled or pitted by slivers of glass, and floors were covered with a carpet of glass pellets.

Shelters, or possibly ducking into some protected corner, could answer this threat. Two homes had special boxes or traps filled with plastic material to catch debris or missiles for more careful studies of their speed, impact and danger.

While a shelter may stand up under the hammering fist of an atomic blast, this is no assurance that humans would come through unharmed from the physical effects of blast or pressure to which they were subjected. The experiments with animals ranging from mice to dogs were designed to obtain vital information on this point of the biological effects of blast within shelters. It will take some months for these studies to be completed.

Record Business

factory production rose to 129, a gain of four points over February and eight points higher than for March, 1954. The overall index of business activity jumped two points over February to 123, a new high for the year and the highest March ever recorded.

Nonagricultural employment during the month was placed at 5,784,000. Of the 40,000 gain, 10,000 jobs were in the factories, about a third of them in the garment industry.

THE REST were divided into these categories: Retail trade, 12,000; construction, 9,000; government, 6,000, and general services, 3,000.

In March, 1954, nonagricultural employment registered a 10,000 increase over the preceding month.

The department reported also that claims for unemployment insurance during the week ended April 22 stood at 273,000. For the corresponding week in 1954, there were 335,000 claims.

slight factional differences."

They stem, it is reported, from the handling of federal patronage in the state. One faction is said to be determined to preserve former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's power in its distribution.

It had been said that either former Comptroller J. Howard McGovern or former State Chairman William L. Pfeiffer might be chosen this month to succeed Taylor. The state committee will hold its annual dinner in New York city May 26.

There Is Nobody Like Her

It has been said that God could not be everywhere . . . so He made Mothers. And this Sunday . . . on her own special day . . . from the humblest cottage to the greatest Cathedral . . . honor is paid to the Mothers of our Nation.

So we try . . . in a few inadequate words . . . to express all the things that Mother means to us . . . and it is only the magic of a Mother's Love that can understand what we mean when we say simply but sincerely "My Mom . . . there is nobody in the world like her."

MOTHER'S DAY

If you honestly try to put one mother down on paper as she really was, without the usual Mother's Day adjectives, perhaps you will be saying something about most mothers—even some who are quite different.

At least one mother was a duchess in an eight-year-old cloth coat. She wore her worries—and there were many—with the same dignity with which she wore the coat.

She knew little about the psychology of bringing up youngsters, although she certainly would have learned had opportunity presented. She had an instinctive knowledge of the importance of a feeling of security in the home and she built her family's security on foundations much firmer than money in the bank. She set her table with love and bread and butter and no family in town had better digestions.

There was no money for music lessons—she cleaned the music teacher's studio in exchange for them. She found a nickel here and a quarter there to buy books at rummage sales. The rug might be shabby but it was clean and it covered a floor that was scrubbed white.

She had faults. She was impatient sometimes. Sometimes she was too tired to endure the nonsense of the young ones. But she knew that she was not perfect and she could admit when she was wrong.

You cannot make her picture fit into the image of the sweet smiling lady who looks out at you from the ads for flowers and candy for Mother's Day. Yet you keep wishing that Mother's Day could be stretched to honor her as she deserved to be honored.

You know she would be most honored by knowing you had become the person she wanted you to be. You're not. But by all the spirits of all good mothers, you're going to keep on trying!

GOOD SENSE ABOUT POLIO

The United States Public Health Service is to be commended for the speed and courage with which it acted on reports that some children treated with Salk vaccine manufactured by one company had contracted polio.

The inoculation program in the areas where the company's output of vaccine was distributed was temporarily halted. A thorough investigation is being made to determine just what happened.

Public Health authorities demonstrated a great deal of faith in the intelligence and judgment of the American people. They might have attempted to suppress the news on the ground that to release it would cause a panic. In the past government agencies have done just that with far less reason.

Instead they gambled on the good sense of the people they serve. They knew that the quickest way to make their temporary stoppage effective was to give it publicity. They believed that given all the facts people would remain calm and continue to support the inoculation programs in areas not affected by the temporary stoppage.

Their faith, for the most part, has been justified.

A rabbit's foot may be regarded as a helpful symbol to have around. Actually, we are sure, it does its greatest good for the rabbit.

STATUS QUO NOT ENOUGH

The United States, we are often told, should build an impregnable defense around the country, behind which we would be safe from attack and could ignore the rest of the world.

No action could help the Communists more, declares Robert B. Anderson, Deputy of the Secretary of Defense. Addressing the American Association of Advertising Agencies, he said that if we merely stand our ground behind a cordon of military might, while proposing nothing to help the world out of its dilemma, we shall be lending substance to the Communist charge that we are interested only in defending the status quo. And in a revolution situation the defenders of the status quo always lose.

The most we could hope for by such tactics would be not to suffer defeat. We would never better our own situation or the world's.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE BATTLE AGAINST GOD

No matter what is being done in some countries to kill God, somehow the memory of His loving kindness lingers and the men of power discover themselves to be dwarfed things in His presence. I was reading recently a radio talk made in Albania which contained these paragraphs:

"Education against superstitions is of great importance. But, unfortunately, many parents do little to educate their children in a spirit which will free them of religious superstitions. Why is it so? In reality the parents do their best to teach them how to keep clean and how to respect grown people. They also help them understand the facts of the present (word missing). But they forget to educate their children in a way which will free them of religious superstitions which are very harmful, especially for children.

"Tales about God, such as nothing can escape the so-called God's eye and that the smallest sin is punished, exert a strong effect on children. So do the stories about the horrible tortures in purgatory and those which say that man's steps are shadowed by a devil."

It is interesting to note that all the efforts of the atheists, backed by all the power of government, cannot penetrate into the family circle. What is here said about Albania can be applied to all the countries behind the Iron Curtain. No matter what they do and what they say, mothers continue to bootleg God into the home, at great risk to themselves, for their own children may be government spies. By a system known as self-criticism, children rise in the classroom and discuss their errors and what happens in the home. High school students who join the Komsomol must criticize themselves before their colleagues. This is effective espionage in the home.

The speaker on the broadcast, whose name is not given, tells this:

"Here is what a girl of a village school writes about this case: after pointing out that at school she was taught and knew that narrations about God were only fabrications, she adds: 'At home we must listen to our parents. They tell us tales about God. So I again forget the words of my teacher and respect only what my mother says.' Another pupil, the daughter of religious parents, writes: 'When I am at school I hardly believe in God, but when I get home I begin to believe in God.' This disharmony between the family and the school mutilates the child's soul, harms, and make difficult the development of his will, and teaches the pupil to become a hypocrite."

Parents are called upon to stop teaching doctrines of Christianity in their homes. They are warned that such children are bound to have unhappy lives, by which is meant that they will be precluded from joining the ruling party and therefore their opportunities in life will be limited.

Father Georges Bissonnette, the Roman Catholic priest who was expelled from Moscow, explains this attitude:

"Communism, at least the Leninist communism prevailing in the Soviet Union, is intrinsically atheistic. No matter who holds the Red helm, be it Malenkov, Bulganin or Khrushchev, he must necessarily be dedicated to extirpating what communism considers as 'religious superstitions.'"

Nevertheless, the people of these countries do not forget their traditions entirely and when such a festival as Christmas or Easter comes along, there is a nostalgia for the old ways. This cannot be erased even in Soviet Russia where efforts in that direction have been made with vehemence since 1917. Father Bissonnette tells a story which is perhaps symptomatic of the emotional response to the challenge of atheism:

"The fact is that young people were still being married in church, baptized and educated in the faith. They were even becoming adept in answering the ridicule heaped on religion. When one atheistic lecturer ridiculed belief in a God, because, as he put it, the world was functioning so smoothly it did not need a God, he got this reply from his listeners: 'That just shows how stupid you are and how smart God is. God is so intelligent that He can make a world which can run by itself.'"

The battle for God seems to spring eternally among these people. William Randolph Hearst, Jr. reported observable evidence of its strength after his recent visit to Soviet Russia.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EARLY OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS

We have all read articles or heard criticisms of what have been termed "useless" or "unnecessary" operations, that is, operations in which an organ has been removed which later proved to be normal under microscopic examination. Now, we will all agree that it is easier to have "hindsight" than "foresight" but would we not rather be safe than sorry? This comes particularly to my mind on reading the results of two seven-year surveys on appendicitis by Drs. B. Plewes and L. Teskey, Jr., at the Toronto East General Hospital, Canada.

These two seven-year surveys covered the 1933-1939 inclusive period and the 1946-1952 period. "The death rate from appendicitis has been reduced from 26 deaths per 1,000 cases fifteen years ago to two deaths per 1,000 cases now as shown by comparison of cases in these two surveys. In the 'thirties,' patients with acute appendicitis had a 95 per cent out of 100 chance of surviving while in the 'forties' such a patient had a 99.7 per cent chance of recovery. The removal of the uninflamed appendix shows a mortality rate of nearly 1 per cent in the first series and one-tenth of 1 per cent in the later series."

A closer study reveals that if the inflamed appendix was not ruptured, treatment was followed by six deaths in over 500 cases in the first series and only three deaths in over 1,600 cases in the second. More spectacular was the reduction from 30 deaths in 191 cases of ruptured appendicitis to three deaths in 287 cases, improving the chances of survival from 85 to 99 chances in a hundred. Nevertheless, and this is a very important point, if acute appendicitis goes on to peritonitis, the patient still is subjected to a six-fold increase in death rate and twice the length of hospital stay.

These studies show that the increasing safety of operations in uncomplicated or doubtful cases of appendicitis has resulted in more frequent appendicitis (removal of appendix) rather than continued observation and delay. This has, of course, resulted in some appendixes being removed which were later proved to be normal when examined by the pathologist. Balanced against this we have the fact that the death rate from appendicitis has been reduced ten-fold.

These physicians conclude that it would be safer for patients if early appendectomy were performed in doubtful cases of "acute" abdomen than if the surgeon continued to boast that he never removes a normal appendix. "The mortality of appendicitis may be further reduced if the present trend toward earlier operation is continued. The treatment of acute appendicitis is immediate appendectomy."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — As of May 1, President Eisenhower has made 145 requests for new legislation to the 84th Congress.

Action has been completed on just 20 of these requests. The list includes 12 general legislative proposals and the ratification of eight international agreements by the Senate.

The list does not include appropriation bills to finance government operations during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. And it does not include legislative proposals originating in the Congress, or in the executive departments of government.

But only 12 such measures have thus far been cleared by the Congress and signed into law by the President. In one, Congress raised its own pay, but for what?

With four months of this session of Congress down and only three months to go—if the desire to adjourn by Aug. 1 is carried out—it can be seen that an awful lot of steam will have to be put on if President Eisenhower's program is to get any place this year.

THE LETHARGY is a little difficult to account for.

It can be explained in part by the fact that the Democratic-controlled Congress isn't any too anxious to help a Republican president make a good record. On the other hand, some of the President's strongest support on the trade agreements renewal and international affairs has come from the Democratic side of the aisles.

Sen. Walter George (D.-Ga.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has been a tower of strength to the administration. He has pushed through ratification of mutual defense treaty with China, the Southeast Asia treaty, German rearmament agreement, foreign service reorganization and several minor agreements with foreign countries. The grant of authority to the President to determine what action should be taken to defend Formosa was passed in jig time.

Military pay incentives were passed in part. The new military reserves plan has passed the House with major changes.

POSTAL PAY RAISES HAVE BEEN approved but at a higher scale than the President recommended. General government employes' pay and allowance increases have cleared the Senate only.

Three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program has passed the House.

Nearly all the other proposals are hung up in committee. Signs of revolt and slowdown against the President's program are many. This is in spite of Mr. Eisenhower's assurances to his press conference that it's too early to tell what the congressional record will be.

The House Agriculture Committee has approved a return to high, rigid price supports. The Senate has appropriated 11 million dollars more for Department of Agriculture than the President requested. This is seven million dollars more than the House approved.

There is serious questioning in both Houses of Congress on the administration's cutback of military manpower and its defense policies in general.

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION TO THE Dixon-Yates electric power supply contract for the Tennessee Valley seems to have slowed down all administration public power proposals. Only the Upper Colorado River development has passed the Senate.

There seems to be little congressional enthusiasm for the President's health reinsurance, education, highway, housing and postal rate increase proposals.

The Trade Agreements Act expires June 12. The 281 billion-dollar debt limit returns to 275 billion unless extended by June 30. Foreign Aid and Small Business Administrations are scheduled to go out of business by June 30. Selective Service and various Housing Act authorities expire July 1.

There's an awful lot of work to be done around here in the next 90 days if Congress is to justify that $7500 a year pay raise.

Channel Masters' Official Writes On TV Antenna

A three-page article on television antennas, written by Harold Harris, vice president of Channel Master Corporation of Ellenville, has been included in the 1955 Book of Knowledge Annual, Channel Master announced today.

The article, Eyes and Ears of TV, is illustrated by drawings and photographs of different antenna types. It describes in non-technical language the importance of the TV antenna in providing good reception and explains how proper selection of a television antenna can help eliminate these problems.

The Book of Knowledge Annual is distributed to approximately 350,000 subscribers by the Grolier Society, Inc., publishers.

COMMENTING upon the inclusion of his article, Harris said, "The fact that the publishers of the Book of Knowledge have included a section of television antennas in their current edition is proof of the coming-of-age of the antenna industry. It also indicates the formal acceptance of television antennas as genuine consumer products—products in which the general public has a sincere and active interest."

It is advisable to stain knotty pine paneling before installing it. Otherwise, if the boards shrink, unstained lapped edges may be exposed.

MOTHER'S DAY

If you honestly try to put one mother down on paper as she really was, without the usual Mother's Day adjectives, perhaps you will be saying something about most mothers—even some who are quite different.

At least one mother was a duchess in an eight-year-old cloth coat. She wore her worries—and there were many—with the same dignity with which she wore the coat.

She knew little about the psychology of bringing up youngsters, although she certainly would have learned had opportunity presented. She had an instinctive knowledge of the importance of a feeling of security in the home and she built her family's security on foundations much firmer than money in the bank. She set her table with love and bread and butter and no family in town had better digestions.

There was no money for music lessons—she cleaned the music teacher's studio in exchange for them. She found a nickel here and a quarter there to buy books at rummage sales. The rug might be shabby but it was clean and it covered a floor that was scrubbed white.

She had faults. She was impatient sometimes. Sometimes she was too tired to endure the nonsense of the young ones. But she knew that she was not perfect and she could admit when she was wrong.

You cannot make her picture fit into the image of the sweet smiling lady who looks out at you from the ads for flowers and candy for Mother's Day. Yet you keep wishing that Mother's Day could be stretched to honor her as she deserved to be honored.

You know she would be most honored by knowing you had become the person she wanted you to be. You're not. But by all the spirits of all good mothers, you're going to keep on trying!

GOOD SENSE ABOUT POLIO

The United States Public Health Service is to be commended for the speed and courage with which it acted on reports that some children treated with Salk vaccine manufactured by one company had contracted polio.

The inoculation program in the areas where the company's output of vaccine was distributed was temporarily halted. A thorough investigation is being made to determine just what happened.

Public Health authorities demonstrated a great deal of faith in the intelligence and judgment of the American people. They might have attempted to suppress the news on the ground that to release it would cause a panic. In the past government agencies have done just that with far less reason.

Instead they gambled on the good sense of the people they serve. They knew that the quickest way to make their temporary stoppage effective was to give it publicity. They believed that given all the facts people would remain calm and continue to support the inoculation programs in areas not affected by the temporary stoppage.

Their faith, for the most part, has been justified.

A rabbit's foot may be regarded as a helpful symbol to have around. Actually, we are sure, it does its greatest good for the rabbit.

STATUS QUO NOT ENOUGH

The United States, we are often told, should build an impregnable defense around the country, behind which we would be safe from attack and could ignore the rest of the world.

No action could help the Communists more, declares Robert B. Anderson, Deputy of the Secretary of Defense. Addressing the American Association of Advertising Agencies, he said that if we merely stand our ground behind a cordon of military might, while proposing nothing to help the world out of its dilemma, we shall be lending substance to the Communist charge that we are interested only in defending the status quo. And in a revolution situation the defenders of the status quo always lose.

The most we could hope for by such tactics would be not to suffer defeat. We would never better our own situation or the world's.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE BATTLE AGAINST GOD

No matter what is being done in some countries to kill God, somehow the memory of His loving kindness lingers and the men of power discover themselves to be dwarfed things in His presence. I was reading recently a radio talk made in Albania which contained these paragraphs:

"Education against superstitions is of great importance. But, unfortunately, many parents do little to educate their children in a spirit which will free them of religious superstitions. Why is it so? In reality the parents do their best to teach them how to keep clean and how to respect grown people. They also help them understand the facts of the present (word missing). But they forget to educate their children in a way which will free them of religious superstitions which are very harmful, especially for children.

"Tales about God, such as nothing can escape the so-called God's eye and that the smallest sin is punished, exert a strong effect on children. So do the stories about the horrible tortures in purgatory and those which say that man's steps are shadowed by a devil."

It is interesting to note that all the efforts of the atheists, backed by all the power of government, cannot penetrate into the family circle. What is here said about Albania can be applied to all the countries behind the Iron Curtain. No matter what they do and what they say, mothers continue to bootleg God into the home, at great risk to themselves, for their own children may be government spies. By a system known as self-criticism, children rise in the classroom and discuss their errors and what happens in the home. High school students who join the Komsomol must criticize themselves before their colleagues. This is effective espionage in the home.

The speaker on the broadcast, whose name is not given, tells this:

"Here is what a girl of a village school writes about this case: after pointing out that at school she was taught and knew that narrations about God were only fabrications, she adds: 'At home we must listen to our parents. They tell us tales about God. So I again forget the words of my teacher and respect only what my mother says.' Another pupil, the daughter of religious parents, writes: 'When I am at school I hardly believe in God, but when I get home I begin to believe in God.' This disharmony between the family and the school mutilates the child's soul, harms, and make difficult the development of his will, and teaches the pupil to become a hypocrite."

Parents are called upon to stop teaching doctrines of Christianity in their homes. They are warned that such children are bound to have unhappy lives, by which is meant that they will be precluded from joining the ruling party and therefore their opportunities in life will be limited.

Father Georges Bissonnette, the Roman Catholic priest who was expelled from Moscow, explains this attitude:

"Communism, at least the Leninist communism prevailing in the Soviet Union, is intrinsically atheistic. No matter who holds the Red helm, be it Malenkov, Bulganin or Khrushchev, he must necessarily be dedicated to extirpating what communism considers as 'religious superstitions.'"

Nevertheless, the people of these countries do not forget their traditions entirely and when such a festival as Christmas or Easter comes along, there is a nostalgia for the old ways. This cannot be erased even in Soviet Russia where efforts in that direction have been made with vehemence since 1917. Father Bissonnette tells a story which is perhaps symptomatic of the emotional response to the challenge of atheism:

"The fact is that young people were still being married in church, baptized and educated in the faith. They were even becoming adept in answering the ridicule heaped on religion. When one atheistic lecturer ridiculed belief in a God, because, as he put it, the world was functioning so smoothly it did not need a God, he got this reply from his listeners: 'That just shows how stupid you are and how smart God is. God is so intelligent that He can make a world which can run by itself.'"

The battle for God seems to spring eternally among these people. William Randolph Hearst, Jr. reported observable evidence of its strength after his recent visit to Soviet Russia.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EARLY OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS

We have all read articles or heard criticisms of what have been termed "useless" or "unnecessary" operations, that is, operations in which an organ has been removed which later proved to be normal under microscopic examination. Now, we will all agree that it is easier to have "hindsight" than "foresight" but would we not rather be safe than sorry? This comes particularly to my mind on reading the results of two seven-year surveys on appendicitis by Drs. B. Plewes and L. Teskey, Jr., at the Toronto East General Hospital, Canada.

These two seven-year surveys covered the 1933-1939 inclusive period and the 1946-1952 period. "The death rate from appendicitis has been reduced from 26 deaths per 1,000 cases fifteen years ago to two deaths per 1,000 cases now as shown by comparison of cases in these two surveys. In the 'thirties,' patients with acute appendicitis had a 95 per cent out of 100 chance of surviving while in the 'forties' such a patient had a 99.7 per cent chance of recovery. The removal of the uninflamed appendix shows a mortality rate of nearly 1 per cent in the first series and one-tenth of 1 per cent in the later series."

A closer study reveals that if the inflamed appendix was not ruptured, treatment was followed by six deaths in over 500 cases in the first series and only three deaths in over 1,600 cases in the second. More spectacular was the reduction from 30 deaths in 191 cases of ruptured appendicitis to three deaths in 287 cases, improving the chances of survival from 85 to 99 chances in a hundred. Nevertheless, and this is a very important point, if acute appendicitis goes on to peritonitis, the patient still is subjected to a six-fold increase in death rate and twice the length of hospital stay.

These studies show that the increasing safety of operations in uncomplicated or doubtful cases of appendicitis has resulted in more frequent appendicitis (removal of appendix) rather than continued observation and delay. This has, of course, resulted in some appendixes being removed which were later proved to be normal when examined by the pathologist. Balanced against this we have the fact that the death rate from appendicitis has been reduced ten-fold.

These physicians conclude that it would be safer for patients if early appendectomy were performed in doubtful cases of "acute" abdomen than if the surgeon continued to boast that he never removes a normal appendix. "The mortality of appendicitis may be further reduced if the present trend toward earlier operation is continued. The treatment of acute appendicitis is immediate appendectomy."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — As of May 1, President Eisenhower has made 145 requests for new legislation to the 84th Congress.

Action has been completed on just 20 of these requests. The list includes 12 general legislative proposals and the ratification of eight international agreements by the Senate.

The list does not include appropriation bills to finance government operations during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. And it does not include legislative proposals originating in the Congress, or in the executive departments of government.

But only 12 such measures have thus far been cleared by the Congress and signed into law by the President. In one, Congress raised its own pay, but for what?

With four months of this session of Congress down and only three months to go—if the desire to adjourn by Aug. 1 is carried out—it can be seen that an awful lot of steam will have to be put on if President Eisenhower's program is to get any place this year.

THE LETHARGY is a little difficult to account for.

It can be explained in part by the fact that the Democratic-controlled Congress isn't any too anxious to help a Republican president make a good record. On the other hand, some of the President's strongest support on the trade agreements renewal and international affairs has come from the Democratic side of the aisles.

Sen. Walter George (D.-Ga.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has been a tower of strength to the administration. He has pushed through ratification of mutual defense treaty with China, the Southeast Asia treaty, German rearmament agreement, foreign service reorganization and several minor agreements with foreign countries. The grant of authority to the President to determine what action should be taken to defend Formosa was passed in jig time.

Military pay incentives were passed in part. The new military reserves plan has passed the House with major changes.

POSTAL PAY RAISES HAVE BEEN approved but at a higher scale than the President recommended. General government employes' pay and allowance increases have cleared the Senate only.

Three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program has passed the House.

Nearly all the other proposals are hung up in committee. Signs of revolt and slowdown against the President's program are many. This is in spite of Mr. Eisenhower's assurances to his press conference that it's too early to tell what the congressional record will be.

The House Agriculture Committee has approved a return to high, rigid price supports. The Senate has appropriated 11 million dollars more for Department of Agriculture than the President requested. This is seven million dollars more than the House approved.

There is serious questioning in both Houses of Congress on the administration's cutback of military manpower and its defense policies in general.

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION TO THE Dixon-Yates electric power supply contract for the Tennessee Valley seems to have slowed down all administration public power proposals. Only the Upper Colorado River development has passed the Senate.

There seems to be little congressional enthusiasm for the President's health reinsurance, education, highway, housing and postal rate increase proposals.

The Trade Agreements Act expires June 12. The 281 billion-dollar debt limit returns to 275 billion unless extended by June 30. Foreign Aid and Small Business Administrations are scheduled to go out of business by June 30. Selective Service and various Housing Act authorities expire July 1.

There's an awful lot of work to be done around here in the next 90 days if Congress is to justify that $7500 a year pay raise.

The Town That Honors A Bowl of Cereal

The Town Named After a Bowl of Cereal. Ata, 2399 acres in area, population 3040 was built in honor and named after a bowl of Ata (wheat flour paste) which was buried under the gateway of the town by its founder. The locality was founded by Lal Sah, who was lost during a hunting trip and would have starved to death but for a medicant who offered him a bowl of Ata. In commemoration Lal Sah buried a bowl of Ata on the spot and in its honor founded the city which has been named Ata to this day.

Channel Masters' Official Writes On TV Antenna

A three-page article on television antennas, written by Harold Harris, vice president of Channel Master Corporation of Ellenville, has been included in the 1955 Book of Knowledge Annual, Channel Master announced today.

The article, Eyes and Ears of TV, is illustrated by drawings and photographs of different antenna types. It describes in nontechnical language the importance of the TV antenna in providing good reception and explains how proper selection of a television antenna can help eliminate these problems.

The Book of Knowledge Annual is distributed to approximately 350,000 subscribers by the Grolier Society, Inc., publishers.

COMMENTING upon the inclusion of his article, Harris said, "The fact that the publishers of the Book of Knowledge have included a section of television antennas in their current edition is proof of the coming-of-age of the antenna industry. It also indicates the formal acceptance of television antennas as genuine consumer products—products in which the general public has a sincere and active interest."

The Mature Parent

Favorite Hymn Is Something No Mother Should Lack

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Soon after the Greys had discovered that Maggie was going to have a sister, they put a down payment on a suburban house — and moved.

The day after they were installed, the little girl next door shoved Maggie away from her doll carriage. Overwhelmed by her own problems, her mother resisted the realization that Maggie might have one. But on the fourth day when the little girl next door, accompanied by a friend on a tricycle, ordered Maggie off her own front sidewalk, Mrs. Grey became really concerned for her child's social future.

She felt an intense desire to solve Maggies' problem for her by going out and slapping the little girl next door.

Fortunately, she controlled this impulse. What she did was to drop her work and take Maggie on her lap. Then she began to sing their Favorite Hymn to her.

By the time she'd finished, the angry impulse to solve Maggie's problem for her had passed. The oppressive fear that Maggie couldn't solve it for herself had passed. To the stilled child in her arms, she was able to say smilingly:

"My, how sad we've been about nothing! You don't like unkindness in the little girl next door. All you have to do about it is tell it so. All we have to do is just tell her that we don't like it—and then walk away from it. . . .

And sure enough, a day or so later, Maggie was able to do just that.

It was the beginning of friendship with the little girl next door.

Personally, I think that no mother can ever afford to be without a Favorite Hymn.

For children bring us their pains and hurts, seeking strength that is firmer than theirs. We do not always have it ready to give to them. The Favorite Hymn restores it to us.

That is why children want us to have one.

It becomes associated with our conquets of fear for them, so they learn to trust and love it. Though they do not grasp the meaning of its words, they sense that we do. And in our arms they grow quiet, knowing that we are recovering from our excited, angry impulses to attack what has hurt them.

As our peace comes back to us, Maggie recovers hers. She will know to the instant when we have secured our hold on the "rock that is higher" than ours—and jump off our laps to go and play.

I don't know how I'd ever have managed without our Favorite Hymn.

Brig. General Edgar Conley, chief of the New York military district, paid a visit to the headquarters of the 854th Engineer Aviation Battalion, United States Army Reserve, located in Kingston.

It is his policy to visit personally all of the major reserve units in New York state under his command, checking on the training program.

The general spoke of the vital role the reserves would play in case of national emergency and the need for being well-trained in their respective assignments.

General Conley stressed the importance of adequate preparation of all instructions in order to make them as realistic as possible. He also invited the officers' suggestions in helping to expedite administrative procedure involved in reserve affairs.

The Mature Parent

Favorite Hymn Is Something No Mother Should Lack

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Soon after the Greys had discovered that Maggie was going to have a sister, they put a down payment on a suburban house — and moved.

The day after they were installed, the little girl next door shoved Maggie away from her doll carriage. Overwhelmed by her own problems, her mother resisted the realization that Maggie might have one. But on the fourth day when the little girl next door, accompanied by a friend on a tricycle, ordered Maggie off her own front sidewalk, Mrs. Grey became really concerned for her child's social future.

She felt an intense desire to solve Maggies' problem for her by going out and slapping the little girl next door.

Fortunately, she controlled this impulse. What she did was to drop her work and take Maggie on her lap. Then she began to sing their Favorite Hymn to her.

By the time she'd finished, the angry impulse to solve Maggie's problem for her had passed. The oppressive fear that Maggie couldn't solve it for herself had passed. To the stilled child in her arms, she was able to say smilingly:

"My, how sad we've been about nothing! You don't like unkindness in the little girl next door. All you have to do about it is tell it so. All we have to do is just tell her that we don't like it—and then walk away from it. . . .

And sure enough, a day or so later, Maggie was able to do just that.

It was the beginning of friendship with the little girl next door.

Personally, I think that no mother can ever afford to be without a Favorite Hymn.

For children bring us their pains and hurts, seeking strength that is firmer than theirs. We do not always have it ready to give to them. The Favorite Hymn restores it to us.

That is why children want us to have one.

It becomes associated with our conquets of fear for them, so they learn to trust and love it. Though they do not grasp the meaning of its words, they sense that we do. And in our arms they grow quiet, knowing that we are recovering from our excited, angry impulses to attack what has hurt them.

As our peace comes back to us, Maggie recovers hers. She will know to the instant when we have secured our hold on the "rock that is higher" than ours—and jump off our laps to go and play.

I don't know how I'd ever have managed without our Favorite Hymn.

Valances Can Correct Window-Size Faults

Valances make windows more effective and can heighten, lower or widen them. These can be box pleats, deep ruffles, painted wood or elaborate shapes.

You can raise the height of too-low windows by mounting cornices or valances above them. Deep cornices or valances at the top of too-high windows will help pull them down. Skimpy windows can be widened by extending cornice and drapery rods on both sides. Carry draperies across the whole wall to add color and pattern for decorative emphasis.

Setting a Screw

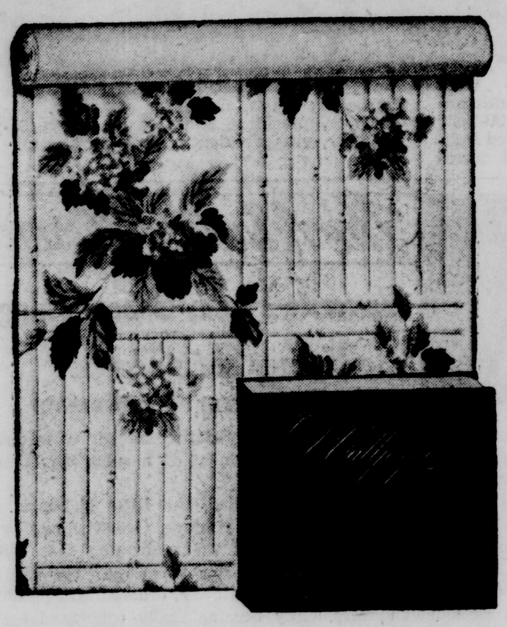

When you don't have anything better on hand, you can set a screw in a brick or concrete wall by drilling a hose in the masonry and inserting into this a wood plug just a little smaller than the size of the hole. When the screw is run into the wood it will split it so that the plug will grip the sides of the opening.

Cheaper Than Painting

A painted house that is discolored with dirt and soot can often be completely restored by scrubbing with soap and water. Scrubbing should be followed by a thorough rinsing.

'The Eleanor' A Classic Of Modernity

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Five
Cubage
House	25,300'
Garage	2,400'
Dimensions
House	50' x 40'
Overall	40' x 66'

You'll look long and hard before you'll find a house that's more modern than "The Eleanor," today's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service.

This house design is ideal for folks who are strictly modern in mind and like to live up to it. And — it gives you the opportunity to just about bring the great outdoors right inside your home. While the design suggests a choice of an attached garage or carport, the latter would more effectively carry out the overall architectural design.

Choice of exterior finish for a house of this type leaves much up to your ingenuity — and to that of your builder. Masonry or a combination of masonry and perhaps redwood could be used to obtain striking results.

Many Windows

Throughtout the house the abundance of window area makes the interior unusually bright and pleasant. The rooms are arranged also, to make living in this house as comfortable as possible and to make taking care of it pleasantly easy, too.

In the living room two choices are offered for the location of the fireplace so that you can decide upon the one that best suits your convenience. The dining area is placed where it is most convenient to the kitchen. And, for those family meals and snacks when you don't want to use the formal dining area there is a good sized breakfast area at the rear of the kitchen.

Extra Lavatory

Located across from the cellar stairway — near to the side entry, garage, dining room and kitchen is an extra lavatory that will prove many times worth the small amount of space that it occupies. The regular bath is located in the left wing of the house near to the bedrooms.

In addition to the master bedroom there is one regular bedroom and a room designated to be used as a study or bedroom. This last room can also be used as a guest room if such an arrangement is more convenient.

Throughout this house good storage facilities are provided; these closets are all conveniently placed, too.

Since no space is alloted for a laundry in the house proper, your laundry equipment should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Enlarge Window Space To Light Up Basement

Does your basement have a dim, almost useless window up near the ceiling and opening on a skimpy areaway outside?

The areaway can be enlarged and dug deeper, with a good-sized window substituted for the "transom" effect. Line the areaway with stones or old brick for more attractiveness. Plants or vines may thrive there with little or no encouragement, once the change is made.

Blue Carpet or Rug

Blue is a restful color, and colors that create an atmosphere of tranquility are important in these days of hustle and bustle. A blue carpet or rug goes well with the mellow finishes of furniture whether provincial, modern or formal traditional. Blue gives an extra illusion of space in a room, too. With fast dyes that are resistant to fading from either sun or gas, homemakers can rest assured that a blue carpet will retain its loveliness longer than in the past.

All Cukes Will Climb

All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small vegetable plot, cucumbers, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown on the fence.

Bad for Linoleum

Do not varnish linoleum! The ingredients in all varnishes will react to break down the linoleum and cause deterioration. Protect linoleum with wax.

Spray the Nests

To eliminate tent caterpillars and fall web worms spray with DDT as soon as the nests are found.

Cellar Use Is Found For Glass Towel Bar

Use glass towel bars in the garage and cellar as a storage place for cleaning cloths and oily rags. The glass is impervious to moisture damage and it can be cleaned merely by wiping with a damp cloth. Glass bars come in varying sizes, complete with chrome fittings and screws for installation. Prices range from 19 cents to $1.19, depending upon size.

Sloping Roof Valleys

Where two sloping roof areas join at an angle the valleys must be designed to carry water away quickly so that it does not back up under the roof covering and cause damage to the structure. Careful inspection should be made of all valleys at regular intervals because they are especially vulvenable to leaks.

Holes in Screening

Holes in wire insect screening can be patched with a small square of screening with some of the cross wire removed. Bend the remaining wires around the edges to 90 degrees, slip the patch into place on the screening and then bend the wires that extend through the original screening down to hold the patch in place. Be sure to use the the same metal for the patch as the original screening. Little ready-cut patching squares are available at some hardware stores.

Way to Ruin Brush

Paint should never be permitted to harden in the bristles of a paint brush. Cleaning sometimes is impossible after certain types of paint have set in the brush. In any case, allowing paint to harden before removal shortens the life of the brush.

Be Sure Space Permits Future Home Addition

Before buying or building a house with the intentions of expanding its size at a later date, the prospective owner should first make sure that the size of the plot will permit future expansion, experts point out.

The house or plot buyer is advised to obtain from his local building officials a copy of the zoning law before making any purchase.

Most communities and some lending agencies have regulations governing the distances from the house to the street and to other property lines. These distances are usually stated as minimums to prevent crowding or encroaching upon adjoining property.

Few front yards are permitted to be less than 20 feet, side yards less than five feet and the requirements in this area are more.

Limitations are set on how much of the plot can be occupied by buildings. These range from 25 to 40 per cent in most residential zones. In the case of a 100-by-50-foot plot where 25 per cent occupancy is the maximum, house and garage can cover no more than 1250 square feet. Unless the house is extremely small, this would make impossible any expansion at ground level. Any expansion would have to be in the form of a second story.

Painting Baseboard

When painting a baseboard, begin in a corner of the room. Brush the paint out onto the middle of the board first, then work toward the edges. It's wise to protect the floor with a drop cloth. By holding a paint shield or stiff piece of cardboard against the wall at the upper edge of the baseboard, you can also facilitate your job.

Right Drapery Length Essential to Windows

The right length of draperies and casement curtains is essential to a well-dressed window. Let them be sill-length, apron-length (the section of wood below the sill), or floor-length, but no in-betweens.

Have them generously full, never skimpy, but don't smother your windows with too much curtaining if you have a pleasant view. Most windows look best with draperies that reach the floor, if there is no structural interference below the sill.

Fan for the Basement

While attic exhaust fans are usually mounted in the attic, they are also effective set in the basement assuming that there is a window or door from the basement to the outside of sufficient size. They create less noise in the basement than in the attic and also help to keep the basement nice and dry if it tends toward dampness.

Design Must Match

When buying ready-made curtains of a patterned fabric, make sure that the design is matched in each pair of curtains and that the arrangement of the design units is the same in all the pairs you buy.

Some Contractors Will Paint Half a House

In many sections of the country it is now possible to have half your house painted by a professional painter while you do the other half yourself. In such a case, the painting contractor paints the difficult-to-reach places, after taking down the shutters and doing the calking. You paint the shutters and the lower more accessible areas and have the benefit of the contractor's suggestions and advice. For those who like to do their own house painting but dislike climbing high ladders, the economical arrangement is highly satisfactory.

By holding a paint shield or stiff piece of cardboard against the wall at the upper edge of the baseboard, you can also facilitate your job.

Right Drapery Length Essential to Windows

The right length of draperies and casement curtains is essential to a well-dressed window. Let them be sill-length, apron-length (the section of wood below the sill), or floor-length, but no in-betweens.

Have them generously full, never skimpy, but don't smother your windows with too much curtaining if you have a pleasant view. Most windows look best with draperies that reach the floor, if there is no structural interference below the sill.

Fan for the Basement

While attic exhaust fans are usually mounted in the attic, they are also effective set in the basement assuming that there is a window or door from the basement to the outside of sufficient size. They create less noise in the basement than in the attic and also help to keep the basement nice and dry if it tends toward dampness.

Design Must Match

When buying ready-made curtains of a patterned fabric, make sure that the design is matched in each pair of curtains and that the arrangement of the design units is the same in all the pairs you buy.

Some Contractors Will Paint Half a House

In many sections of the country it is now possible to have half your house painted by a professional painter while you do the other half yourself. In such a case, the painting contractor paints the difficult-to-reach places, after taking down the shutters and doing the calking. You paint the shutters and the lower more accessible areas and have the benefit of the contractor's suggestions and advice. For those who like to do their own house painting but dislike climbing high ladders, the economical arrangement is highly satisfactory.

"It's easy to see how you win bridge tournaments!" was the comment of an opponent after the play of the hand shown today. It wasn't a compliment, because the opponent thought that we had more luck than brains.

As you can see, my partner jumped to three no-trump without the slightest vestige of a stopper in hearts. The opponents took their four heart tricks, and we then took the rest.

The opponents pointed out that for all we knew they might have been able to take five heart tricks, or even more. That we might be unable to make three no-trump but might be cold for game or even slam in clubs or diamonds. That a rebid of two spades would enable us to explore all of these possibilities. And so on.

We did indeed win the tournament, and bidding of this kind helped us win. The point is that there are times when it pays to abandon "scientific" bidding.

If South bids two spades and evenutally winds up in no-trump, both opponents have been invited to lead hearts. Why should South invite the very lead he wants to prevent?

The jump to three no-trump has a fine chance of getting a spade opening lead. If the hearts are 5-3, the opening leader may well have the three hearts rather than the five; and he will then lead spades unless he has been warned away from that suit by a "scientific" bid. If the hearts are 4-4, game in no-trump is at least as good as game in a minor.

The danger of missing a slam needn't be taken too seriously either. It is always possible to miss a lucky slam, no matter how you bid. If North has more than 10 points, however, he will think about a slam after the jump to three no-trump. That jump, after all, shows about 21 or 22 points and will not keep North quiet, if he has a good hand.

Lumber Stock Destroyed

Hoosick Falls, May 7 (AP) — Two frame buildings and the stock of the Hoosick Falls Lumber Co. were destroyed by fire yesterday. High winds fanned the flames, which broke out in a two-story structure. There was no estimate of the loss. Carl and Donald Cunningham own the lumberyard.

Fan Spreads Heat

An electric fan placed near a space heater will do a lot toward making the whole room more comfortable.

Towel Rack Quota

According to someone who took the trouble to figure it out, there should be 21 inches of towel rack per person in the bathroom.

Hardly Worth While

The meeting at which President Edmund U. Burhans presided, heard Jack Rivenberg report that a date other than June 18 had been requested for the local presentation of the King and his Court, softball exhibition.

Fire Chief Vernon Benjamin was designated as chairman of a committee to arrange for a fire training program to be held locally. All local firemen who would like to take the course are asked to contact Mr. Benjamin.

The saying, "marriage is a gamble" is far from new. Probably the origin of the idea is in the word wed itself which is derived from weddian which means wager. Oddly enough, wed was first used pertaining to horse races and only later was shifted to the marriage gamble.

Fred Dettori, of New Paltz, a kegler with a flair for high scores in tournaments, fired a 629 net and 713 gross singles in the New York State men's tournament at Elmira.

Rolling with the JDs Dairy Bar team from New Paltz, Dettori reeled off nine strikes in a row before a 6-pin tap stopped him in the 10th. He finished with 279 and added 204 and 146, with three splits marring the last game.

The JDs rolled 2654 net and had 441-pin handicap for a 3095 gross.

Highland Wins 7-5 In Eighth

Mott's Triple Beats Wallkill in UCAL

Sam Mott tripled with two aboard in the eighth to give Highland High a 7-5 extra-inning victory over Wallkill in a UCAL contest yesterday at Wallkill.

Relief pitcher John Gersch held Wallkill scoreless after Highland had tied the score at 6-6 in the top of the seventh.

SAGGARESE launched the Highland rally with a walk and stole second. Ted Wright, who relieved starter John Repke in the sixth, got Gruner and McClinton on flies to the outfield. But he hit Gersch with a pitched ball and that was fatal. Mott followed with the game winning triple.

McClinton, Mott and Valentino had two hits apiece for Highland. Cronk poled two singles for the losers.

Seven-Run 2nd Inning Decides

Beaver and Uhl Share Pitching

A seven-run rally in the second inning helped the Kingston High School baseball Jayvees shade Poughkeepsie, 9 to 8, for their first victory of the season at Dietz Stadium.

The Bridge City tossers pecked away at the lead and had runners on second and third with two outs in the seventh when relief pitcher, Jim Uhl, got the next hitter to pop to third baseman Jim Bishop for the final out.

The big Maroon cluster was the result of five walks, singles by Kelsch and Sammons and Bishop's triple. Meanwhile, Coach Al Gruner's infielders came up with some sparkling plays in the clutch.

JOE BEAVER pitched until the final out for Kingston, yielding eight hits. He walled six and struck out seven. The Maroons collected only six hits off Jones, who matched eight walks with eight strikeouts. But the five walks in the one frame proved fatal.

Sammons rapped two singles for Kingston. The other safeties went to Sapone and Kreuger.

Vesselmark led Poughkeepsie with a single and triple and Jones helped himself with a pair of singles.

The Jayvees travel to Catskill Wednesday.

Baseball Notes: Fraternal Youth League needs umpires for its 1955 program at Dietz Stadium. If you're available, call the president, Lou Sapp, 3136.

Five years ago Little League baseball made a spectacular debut in the city. There was high enthusiasm, tremendous crowds and mervelous adult participation and interest in the small fry.

The sentiment seems to be swinging in another direction a few years later. Not that Little League is in jeopardy. Far from it. But it's significant of the changing times when you hear that volunteer adult help is lagging at Kingston Park where they're building a new LL field.

The third Little League could use some sponsors. If the small fry program is to prosper in the years to come, it will need fresh manpower.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Don Evans, the famed Kingston Killer of professional wrestling fame, has purchased the colonial home and 160-acre homestead owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Peters of Ulster according to Henry Neher, Port Ewen realtor. Evans, who sold his farm at Flatbush to airport interests, has been living in Mt. Marion. . . . Steve Polichak, who has handled Poughkeepsie boxers for years, says Eddie Prince may retire if he loses another professional bout. Mike Nazaruk, the big time auto driver who was recently killed, was big favorite at Rhinebeck about eight years ago. . . . Gene Leone, famous New York restaurant operator and resident of Orange county, has paid the league insurance for four years and donated $100 toward the annual dinner of the Newburgh PONY baseball league which is building a new 30x30 club house. . . .

● Of Men and Mice:

Changing fortunes: Catskill village softball league is suspending operations after 20 years. Joe DeSantis, league president, said only two teams showed up at the organizational meeting. "You can't operate a league with two teams," said DeSantis in a classic understatement. In the late 1930s and early 1940s as many as 500 spectators watched league games at Catskill. . . . Bullet Bob Hansen, former Montgomery High speedball sensation, has been dropped to Wilkes-Barre of the Eastern League. . . . Bob Maines is murdering the ball at a .727 clip for Kingston High with eight hits in 11 trips, including three triples and a double. Rennie Giannuzzi has whiffed eight men in four innings of relief and may draw a starting assignment next week. . . . Lefty Passante, one of the former City League Passantes out of Highland, is starting his umpiring career in the Class D K-O-M League (Kansas-Oklahoma-Missouri). He got his doploma at Bill McGowan's umpiring school in Florida. . . . Lamented a Pittsburgh baseball writer: "Covering the Pirates is just like following a hearse—you're travelling with the body. . . ." Of course, that was before the Bucs' 5-game streak.

Mackey Hurls No-Hit Game for Marlboro

George Mackey pitched a no-hit, no-run game as Marlboro Central of the UCAL downed the Newburgh Academy Jayvees, 6 to 0, yesterday at Newburgh.

The Marlboro ace faced only 22 men, one reaching first base on an error, while striking out 13.

UNTIL JOHN Steele's defense collapsed behind him in the seventh, it was a 0-0 duel. Then Coach Kroh's tossers rushed six runs across the plate on only one hit. Four errors, two walks and a fielder's choice did the damage.

Steele walked four and struck out nine.

R. Mandia led the Marlboro hitters with a single and triple. Charlie Mandia stroked two singles and Mackey hit a double for the winners.

Score, Turley Flirting With Feller's Record

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The way Herb Score and Bob Turley have American League batters fanning the breeze these days, it may be that Bobby Feller's strikeout record will have to dust itself off and keep an eye on its first real challenge.

Feller's achievement is a phantom that's never been chased, unlike Babe Ruth's home run record that has had to assert itself practically every year. Those 348 strikeouts Bobby whipped home in 1946 haven't even bothered to sneer at recent totals.

Robin Roberts' 198 strikeouts in 1953 were the closest anyone ever came to Feller's mark.

Now come Highballin' Herb and Bullet Bob.

Score, the 20-year-old lefty Cleveland's Indians have touted as a southpaw Feller, actually is ahead of Feller's pace. After his first five appearances in '46, Feller had whiffed 48. Score after five games has fanned 50.

TURLEY, at the same five-game milestone, has struck out 46.

Both Score and Turley, the 24-year-old righthander of the New York Yankees, are a bit ahead of Feller's season-long average of eight strikeouts per nine innings.

Feller, back from 3½ years in the navy and 28 years old, worked in 48 games back in '46, adding up 372⅓ innings. He won 23, lost 16. Roberts was 23-16 for Philadelphia Phils in 44 games and 346⅔ innings in '53.

Turley, who worked only 247⅓ innings for Baltimore while tying Roberts for the major league strikeout crown with 185 last season, picked up ground on Score yesterday, fanning 13 in a two-hit, 6-0 victory over Boston. Score set down 10 in a three-hit, 4-1 success against Kansas City.

In other AL games, Virgil Trucks two-hit Detroit for a 1-0 Chicago victory while Washington edged Baltimore 2-1.

IN THE NATIONAL Brooklyn remained a winner, beating Philadelphia 6-4 in 12 innings; Pittsburgh made it six straight, 3-2 over New York; Cincinnati beat Chicago 4-2 and Milwaukee beat St. Louis 8-5.

Turley, who one-hit the White Sox just last week, had another one-hitter in hand with two out in the ninth. But Bill Klaus beat out an infield roller and Turley ended it by fanning pinch-hitter Sam Mele. It was Turley's fifth victory without defeat, best in the majors, and the shutout lowered his earned run average to 1.40.

Mickey Mantle and Billy Hunter each smacked home runs for the Yanks and hit Frank Sullivan and two relievers for seven safeties.

Score, now 3-1, fell just two short of Feller's two-consecutive-game strikeout records of 28 after having missed Feller's one game total of 18 by the same margin Sunday against the Red Sox. Two singles and a walk enabled Kansas City—co-team batting leader in the AL—to mar Score's shutout bid in the seventh. Dave Pope and Hank Majeski both homered behind Score as the Indians took full title to first place.

Trucks and the White Sox knocked Detroit out of a share of the lead, edging 13 percentage points ahead of the Tigers, now in third. Trucks, who won 19 last season, made it his first complete game of the year for a 2-2 record. Al Kaline's single with two out in the sixth spoiled his no-hit bid. Ned Garver was hit hard early, but thwarted Sox scoring efforts until the seventh when his own throwing error followed Sherm Lollar's double.

AT PHILADELPHIA Don Newcombe — cleared of suspension for insubordination only hours before—won for the Dodgers in relief after Roy Campanella had doubled two runs home to break a 4-4 tie. It was the Brooks' 19th victory in 21 games, pushing them 8½ games ahead of the Cubs.

The clutch relief pitching of Ben Wade, a Dodger castoff, kept Pittsburgh's string alive. He came on with one run in, the tieing run on third and the potential winning marker on second in the last of the ninth and after intentionally walking the bases full, got the next three men he faced. Ronnie Kline was the winner, outpitching Johnny Antontlli until he weakened in the ninth.

Drugged or Knocked Out?

Mederos Stops Johnson In Mysterious Finish

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—Laboratory tests are expected to prove today whether Harold Johnson, No. 1 light heavyweight title contender, was doped or the victim of a stupefying punch by Cuban heavyweight Julio Mederos at the Arena last night.

The 26-year-old Johnson, a 4-1 favorite, failed to answer the bell for the third round of a scheduled 10 rounder and Mederos was awarded a technical knockout victory. Johnson collapsed in his corner and had to be removed from the ring on a stretcher.

Alfred Klein, State Athletic Commissioner, told reporters that there was something "definitely mysterious about what happened to Johnson. Doctors believe he may have been drugged. We will conduct a thorough investigation," he announced.

JIMMY WHITE, manager of Mederos, dismissed the dope talk as nonsense. White said his fighter belted Johnson groggy with a right hand at the bell ending the first round. Mederos, who lost a decision to Johnson in Miami last December, gained his 18th victory in 28 fights.

Johnson spent the night at Hahnemann Hospital where a blood test and urinalysis was performed. He is expected to be released today. The cloak and dagger story told by Johnson's handlers centers around an orange.

Clarence (Skinny) Davidson, Johnson's trainer, said the fighter began acting "queer" in his dressing room after taking a bite of an orange. He told Klein and reporters that Johnson complained the orange was "bitter." He said the Philadelphia light heavyweight staggered about the dressing room, but that Johnson claimed he felt fine before entering the ring.

JOHNSON DID stumble entering the ring, but it was thought he tripped over a rope. In the first round the Philadelphian danced around, stabbing Mederos with a sharp left jab. But just before the bell, the 22-year-old Cuban caught him with a solid right to the chin. Johnson staggered to his corner and his seconds worked feverishly getting him ready for the second round bell.

Johnson appeared logy and his eyes were glassy as he came out for the second round. However, he managed to keep up his jab-and-run attack until suddenly, without a blow being struck, he fell to his knees.

He regained his feet and Mederos, sensing that Johnson was out on his feet, rushed in for the kill. The Cuban didn't appear to land any damaging punches, but when the bell rang Johnson again tottered towards his corner. He had trouble locating the stool and when finally seated, he fell off the stool.

Doctors Joseph Ayello and Wilbur Strickland, commission physicians, examined the stricken fighter and signalled that he could not continue. Mederos, who seemed as stunned by the developments as the handful of spectators in the arena and the countless television watchers, had his hand extended by referee Dave Beloff in sign of victory.

Charlottetown, N. S.—Coby McClusky, 158, Halifax, outpointed Rudy Watkins, 158, New York, 10.

Fred Dettori, of New Paltz, a kegler with a flair for high scores in tournaments, fired a 629 net and 713 gross singles in the New York State men's tournament at Elmira.

Rolling with the JDs Dairy Bar team from New Paltz, Dettori reeled off nine strikes in a row before a 6-pin tap stopped him in the 10th. He finished with 279 and added 204 and 146, with three splits marring the last game.

The JDs rolled 2654 net and had 441-pin handicap for a 3095 gross.

Highland Wins 7-5 In Eighth

Mott's Triple Beats Wallkill in UCAL

Sam Mott tripled with two aboard in the eighth to give Highland High a 7-5 extra-inning victory over Wallkill in a UCAL contest yesterday at Wallkill.

Relief pitcher John Gersch held Wallkill scoreless after Highland had tied the score at 6-6 in the top of the seventh.

SAGGARESE launched the Highland rally with a walk and stole second. Ted Wright, who relieved starter John Repke in the sixth, got Gruner and McClinton on flies to the outfield. But he hit Gersch with a pitched ball and that was fatal. Mott followed with the game winning triple.

McClinton, Mott and Valentino had two hits apiece for Highland. Cronk poled two singles for the losers.

Seven-Run 2nd Inning Decides

Beaver and Uhl Share Pitching

A seven-run rally in the second inning helped the Kingston High School baseball Jayvees shade Poughkeepsie, 9 to 8, for their first victory of the season at Dietz Stadium.

The Bridge City tossers pecked away at the lead and had runners on second and third with two outs in the seventh when relief pitcher, Jim Uhl, got the next hitter to pop to third baseman Jim Bishop for the final out.

The big Maroon cluster was the result of five walks, singles by Kelsch and Sammons and Bishop's triple. Meanwhile, Coach Al Gruner's infielders came up with some sparkling plays in the clutch.

JOE BEAVER pitched until the final out for Kingston, yielding eight hits. He walled six and struck out seven. The Maroons collected only six hits off Jones, who matched eight walks with eight strikeouts. But the five walks in the one frame proved fatal.

Sammons rapped two singles for Kingston. The other safeties went to Sapone and Kreuger.

Vesselmark led Poughkeepsie with a single and triple and Jones helped himself with a pair of singles.

The Jayvees travel to Catskill Wednesday.

Baseball Notes: Fraternal Youth League needs umpires for its 1955 program at Dietz Stadium. If you're available, call the president, Lou Sapp, 3136.

Five years ago Little League baseball made a spectacular debut in the city. There was high enthusiasm, tremendous crowds and mervelous adult participation and interest in the small fry.

The sentiment seems to be swinging in another direction a few years later. Not that Little League is in jeopardy. Far from it. But it's significant of the changing times when you hear that volunteer adult help is lagging at Kingston Park where they're building a new LL field.

The third Little League could use some sponsors. If the small fry program is to prosper in the years to come, it will need fresh manpower.

Steele walked four and struck out nine.

Score, Turley Flirting With Feller's Record

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The way Herb Score and Bob Turley have American League batters fanning the breeze these days, it may be that Bobby Feller's strikeout record will have to dust itself off and keep an eye on its first real challenge.

Feller's achievement is a phantom that's never been chased, unlike Babe Ruth's home run record that has had to assert itself practically every year. Those 348 strikeouts Bobby whipped home in 1946 haven't even bothered to sneer at recent totals.

Robin Roberts' 198 strikeouts in 1953 were the closest anyone ever came to Feller's mark.

Now come Highballin' Herb and Bullet Bob.

Score, the 20-year-old lefty Cleveland's Indians have touted as a southpaw Feller, actually is ahead of Feller's pace. After his first five appearances in '46, Feller had whiffed 48. Score after five games has fanned 50.

TURLEY, at the same five-game milestone, has struck out 46.

Both Score and Turley, the 24-year-old righthander of the New York Yankees, are a bit ahead of Feller's season-long average of eight strikeouts per nine innings.

Feller, back from 3½ years in the navy and 28 years old, worked in 48 games back in '46, adding up 372⅓ innings. He won 23, lost 16. Roberts was 23-16 for Philadelphia Phils in 44 games and 346⅔ innings in '53.

Turley, who worked only 247⅓ innings for Baltimore while tying Roberts for the major league strikeout crown with 185 last season, picked up ground on Score yesterday, fanning 13 in a two-hit, 6-0 victory over Boston. Score set down 10 in a three-hit, 4-1 success against Kansas City.

In other AL games, Virgil Trucks two-hit Detroit for a 1-0 Chicago victory while Washington edged Baltimore 2-1.

IN THE NATIONAL Brooklyn remained a winner, beating Philadelphia 6-4 in 12 innings; Pittsburgh made it six straight, 3-2 over New York; Cincinnati beat Chicago 4-2 and Milwaukee beat St. Louis 8-5.

Turley, who one-hit the White Sox just last week, had another one-hitter in hand with two out in the ninth. But Bill Klaus beat out an infield roller and Turley ended it by fanning pinch-hitter Sam Mele. It was Turley's fifth victory without defeat, best in the majors, and the shutout lowered his earned run average to 1.40.

Mickey Mantle and Billy Hunter each smacked home runs for the Yanks and hit Frank Sullivan and two relievers for seven safeties.

Score, now 3-1, fell just two short of Feller's two-consecutive-game strikeout records of 28 after having missed Feller's one game total of 18 by the same margin Sunday against the Red Sox. Two singles and a walk enabled Kansas City—co-team batting leader in the AL—to mar Score's shutout bid in the seventh. Dave Pope and Hank Majeski both homered behind Score as the Indians took full title to first place.

Trucks and the White Sox knocked Detroit out of a share of the lead, edging 13 percentage points ahead of the Tigers, now in third. Trucks, who won 19 last season, made it his first complete game of the year for a 2-2 record. Al Kaline's single with two out in the sixth spoiled his no-hit bid. Ned Garver was hit hard early, but thwarted Sox scoring efforts until the seventh when his own throwing error followed Sherm Lollar's double.

AT PHILADELPHIA Don Newcombe — cleared of suspension for insubordination only hours before—won for the Dodgers in relief after Roy Campanella had doubled two runs home to break a 4-4 tie. It was the Brooks' 19th victory in 21 games, pushing them 8½ games ahead of the Cubs.

The clutch relief pitching of Ben Wade, a Dodger castoff, kept Pittsburgh's string alive. He came on with one run in, the tieing run on third and the potential winning marker on second in the last of the ninth and after intentionally walking the bases full, got the next three men he faced. Ronnie Kline was the winner, outpitching Johnny Antontlij until he weakened in the ninth.

Drugged or Knocked Out?

Mederos Stops Johnson In Mysterious Finish

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—Laboratory tests are expected to prove today whether Harold Johnson, No. 1 light heavyweight title contender, was doped or the victim of a stupefying punch by Cuban heavyweight Julio Mederos at the Arena last night.

The 26-year-old Johnson, a 4-1 favorite, failed to answer the bell for the third round of a scheduled 10 rounder and Mederos was awarded a technical knockout victory. Johnson collapsed in his corner and had to be removed from the ring on a stretcher.

Alfred Klein, State Athletic Commissioner, told reporters that there was something "definitely mysterious about what happened to Johnson. Doctors believe he may have been drugged. We will conduct a thorough investigation," he announced.

JIMMY WHITE, manager of Mederos, dismissed the dope talk as nonsense. White said his fighter belted Johnson groggy with a right hand at the bell ending the first round. Mederos, who lost a decision to Johnson in Miami last December, gained his 18th victory in 28 fights.

Johnson spent the night at Hahnemann Hospital where a blood test and urinalysis was performed. He is expected to be released today. The cloak and dagger story told by Johnson's handlers centers around an orange.

Clarence (Skinny) Davidson, Johnson's trainer, said the fighter began acting "queer" in his dressing room after taking a bite of an orange. He told Klein and reporters that Johnson complained the orange was "bitter." He said the Philadelphia light heavyweight staggered about the dressing room, but that Johnson claimed he felt fine before entering the ring.

JOHNSON DID stumble entering the ring, but it was thought he tripped over a rope. In the first round the Philadelphian danced around, stabbing Mederos with a sharp left jab. But just before the bell, the 22-year-old Cuban caught him with a solid right to the chin. Johnson staggered to his corner and his seconds worked feverishly getting him ready for the second round bell.

Johnson appeared logy and his eyes were glassy as he came out for the second round. However, he managed to keep up his jab-and-run attack until suddenly, without a blow being struck, he fell to his knees.

He regained his feet and Mederos, sensing that Johnson was out on his feet, rushed in for the kill. The Cuban didn't appear to land any damaging punches, but when the bell rang Johnson again tottered towards his corner. He had trouble locating the stool and when finally seated, he fell off the stool.

Doctors Joseph Ayello and Wilbur Strickland, commission physicians, examined the stricken fighter and signalled that he could not continue. Mederos, who seemed as stunned by the developments as the handful of spectators in the arena and the countless television watchers, had his hand extended by referee Dave Beloff in sign of victory.

Charlottetown, N. S.—Coby McClusky, 158, Halifax, outpointed Rudy Watkins, 158, New York, 10.

Paige Direct First

Westbury, May 7 (AP)—Paige Direct, taking the lead with driver Bill Myer at the three-quarters, scored a half-length victory over Steward Lad, piloted by Jimmy Jordan in the Great Neck pace last night at Roosevelt Raceway. Third, another length behind, was the favorite, Ima's Watson, driven by Russell Valles Key. The winner covered the mile in 2:03 3/5. He paid $7.50, $4.50 and $3.

Would Decline Pension

Hyde Park, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said Friday she would decline any pension voted by Congress for widows of presidents. She told an interviewer such pensions were "fine things" for those who really need them but that she had sufficient income to meet her requirements. The Senate has unanimously approved a bill to give an annual pension of $22,500, an office and clerical help to former presidents and an annual pension of $10,000 to widows of presidents. The House has yet to act on the bill.

Rosendale

Church Notes

Rosendale, May 7—All Saint's Episcopal Church, Rosendale, the Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge — Sunday, 9 a. m., Holy Communion and sermon.

Plans for launching the Cerebral Palsy campaign in the Town of Rosendale for this year were discussed by an enthusiastic group which met recently at the home of chairman Mrs. Stephen Huben. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Steeley, Mrs. Arthur Mulligan, Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, Mrs. Louis Maestro, Mrs. Willard Hutchins and Mrs. Huben. Other workers who have signified their willingness to work in this worthy cause but who could not attend the meeting include Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mack, John Tyler, Otto Scherreible as well as Mrs. Marguerite Taylor and Mrs. Marion Fatum, representing the Bloomington and Creek Locks Teen Age Club, which will take over the work in those localities.

A further list of workers will be announced.

V. Steeley, speaking in behalf of the Sportsmen's Club felt that the group would again sponsor a "shoot" and promised to get plans underway at once.

Any group, so desiring, was asked to work out a project of their own and the first to set a place and date for a night of entertainment was the Tillson group. Those active in this group include Mrs. Eva Barringer, Mrs. Loretta Newman, Mrs. Helen Segelken, Mrs. Ida Guerreri, Mrs. Marguerite Deyo, Mrs. Elizabeth Serenbetz, Mrs. Eileen Burchell, Mrs. Coral Grothskop, Mrs. Joy Morrow, with Mrs. W. Hutchins as chairman.

A checkerboard cafe dance and entertainment has been planned for Saturday evening, June 4, at the Tillson school auditorium. Details will be given.

The support of the public is asked. This is a worthy cause, one in which many people are contributing time and money. At Kingston, for example, not only are they taking care of cerebral palsy cases, but also helping to correct certain types of defects in vision, speech, hearing and some post polio work. These cases are being treated and observed by some of the finest doctors in their field, and some of the children from the Town of Rosendale are being treated there.

Says Privacy Invaded

New York, May 7 (AP)—An imprisoned bank bandit is suing a television program sponsor for $10,000, charging a reenactment of his crime was an invasion of privacy. William Roy Miller, 50, currently is serving 15 years in federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., for the Feb. 13, 1951, toy gun holdup of a Tucson, Ariz., bank. A letter from Miller, received here yesterday in Federal District Court, contended NBC's "Big Story" TV show of last Feb. 18, sponsored by the American Tobacco Co., reenacted the holdup without his permission.

Rosendale

Church Notes

Rosendale, May 7—All Saint's Episcopal Church, Rosendale, the Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge — Sunday, 9 a. m., Holy Communion and sermon.

Plans for launching the Cerebral Palsy campaign in the Town of Rosendale for this year were discussed by an enthusiastic group which met recently at the home of chairman Mrs. Stephen Huben. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Steeley, Mrs. Arthur Mulligan, Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, Mrs. Louis Maestro, Mrs. Willard Hutchins and Mrs. Huben. Other workers who have signified their willingness to work in this worthy cause but who could not attend the meeting include Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mack, John Tyler, Otto Scherreible as well as Mrs. Marguerite Taylor and Mrs. Marion Fatum, representing the Bloomington and Creek Locks Teen Age Club, which will take over the work in those localities.

A further list of workers will be announced.

V. Steeley, speaking in behalf of the Sportsmen's Club felt that the group would again sponsor a "shoot" and promised to get plans underway at once.

Any group, so desiring, was asked to work out a project of their own and the first to set a place and date for a night of entertainment was the Tillson group. Those active in this group include Mrs. Eva Barringer, Mrs. Loretta Newman, Mrs. Helen Segelken, Mrs. Ida Guerreri, Mrs. Marguerite Deyo, Mrs. Elizabeth Serenbetz, Mrs. Eileen Burchell, Mrs. Coral Grothskop, Mrs. Joy Morrow, with Mrs. W. Hutchins as chairman.

A checkerboard cafe dance and entertainment has been planned for Saturday evening, June 4, at the Tillson school auditorium. Details will be given.

The support of the public is asked. This is a worthy cause, one in which many people are contributing time and money. At Kingston, for example, not only are they taking care of cerebral palsy cases, but also helping to correct certain types of defects in vision, speech, hearing and some post polio work. These cases are being treated and observed by some of the finest doctors in their field, and some of the children from the Town of Rosendale are being treated there.
